Booing Of Drew By Quebec Bloc Rumored, Denied

OTTAWA (CP)—A claim that Premier Drew of Ontario was booed by the key Quebec delegation to the Progressive Conservative Convention was denied late today by one of his chief Quebec supporters.

Mark Drouin, co-chairman of the Quebec Drew-for-Leader Committee, said Mr. Drew had entered a Quebec delegation caucus when he was directed to it instead of to a reception in his honor and had left with apologies when the mistake was explained to him.

Mr. Drouin said there had been no booing when the incident occurred early this afternoon, as reported by John Diefenbaker, porters of John Diefenbaker.

A written statement from the office of the Diefenbaker-for-Leader forces said Mr. Drew had received a "prolonged booing" from the Quebec delegation when he made an appearance at a meeting it was holding in a building away from the convention hall.

NOT HEARD BY HIM

But a prominent Quebec Progressive Conservative who attended the meeting, said he had been there when Premier Drew entered and he had not heard any boos. He declined to be quoted by name.

Support of the Quebec delegation is regarded as a key to election to the party leadership in tomorrow afternoon's balloting.

It has been supposed that the strong Quebec group would go largely to Premier Drew after the balloting was narrowed down to himself and John Diefenbaker, M.P. for Lake Centre, Sask.

NEWSPAPERMAN'S REPORT

A French-Canadian newspaper man who was standing outside the door of the meeting room at the time of the incident, said Premier Drew entered the room with Mrs. Drew and was greeted first by applause followed by a chorus of "non-non-nons."

This reporter, who also did not wish to be quoted by name, said Mr. and Mrs. Drew were in the hall only a few seconds before emerging.

Afraid To Own Her British Sister

(In this installment of Mrs. Kasenkina's own story, the former Soviet school teacher, who leaped to freedom from the window of the Russian consulate in New York, tells of the second great famine that struck her native land. She also tells of how her sister Eugenia, made attempts to send food parcels to the Kasenkinas from England and with what frightening results.)

(Edited by ISAAC DON LEVINE and Copyright, 1948, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

HOW to escape alive from the spreading scourge of the collectivization drive was the urgent question worrying our families having relatives on the land. Demyan's father, who had farmed his field all his life, decided that there was only one way to save himself and his family. He would abandon his homestead, move to the city, and get a factory job. This he did, and he was saved. My father's brother, also a middling farmer, did likewise and survived the man-made storm.

The Communist offensive against private farming put a premium on the ne'er-do-well. The parasite became under the label of proletarian the privileged character in the village. The thrifty peasant who had a horse, a couple of cows, a few acres of land, as was the case with my father-in-law and my uncle, was now treated as a kulak. Originally the kulak category comprised only the hard-fisted and usurious peasants of whom there were a handful in each community. Now the kulak classification was applied to the millions of middle-class farmers who formed the backbone of the nation's agriculture.

The collectivization campaign wrought havoc on the country. Communist shock troops rounded up recalcitrant peasants who would not be driven into collectives, and shipped them off by the trainloads to stockades, concentration camps, and Siberia.

Canadian Warships Refueling At Sea

Refueling at sea is one of the important phases of naval operations and one which will be performed by warships of the R.C.N.'s Pacific fleet sailing from Esquimalt Oct. 11 on a month-long training cruise to Pearl Harbor. This operation was practiced frequently by ships of the R.C.N. Atlantic task force on their recent northern cruise to Hudson's Bay waters, and here no time is lost as the aircraft carrier Magnificent fills up the destroyer Nootka's bunkers with fuel oil.—(R.C.N. ## Vishinsky Hints Reds Possess Atom Weapons

PARIS (AP)—Russia accused the United States today of seeking war and said the Americans have no monopoly on the atom bomb.

In a violent attack on United States atomic policy, Soviet delegate Andrei Y. Vishinsky told the 58-member United Nations political committee that the United States is pursuing "war aims."

IN ERROR, HE SAYS

Vishinsky added: "It is a mistake to think that there is just one state which has monopoly over atomic energy and the atomic bomb. It is useless to think of such a thing. It is useless to hope for that, because that is fraught with dire and dangerous consequences and miscalculations."

Later in his speech, Vishinsky repeated what was interpreted as a hint that Russia also has an atom bomb. He said the United States was building a bomb stock pile "in the illusion that America has a monopoly on the atom bomb."

"This is an interesting illusion, particularly for the republican presidential candidate, Mr. Thomas E. Dewey, who, I learn, has said that America possesses exclusively the secret of the atom."

"Is this not proof that America's aim is not real co-operation through international control, but, in fact, nothing less than a plan to retain what they consider to be exclusively knowledge of atomic energy?"

This was not the first Russian hint that the Soviet Union already has the secret of the atomic bomb. Vishinsky made a similar speech to the U.N. about a year ago.

McNAUGHTON SPOKE

Last week, however, Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, Canadian member of the Atomic Energy Commission, told reporters: "We are quite certain Russia has not yet produced an atomic bomb."

Vishinsky declared today Bernard M. Baruch's plan for controlling atomic energy was designed to give the United States "unlimited control of the economy of the world through the dictate of the atom bomb."

U.N. Not Breaking Up, Evatt Declares

PARIS (CP)—V. Evatt of Australia, president of the United Nations General Assembly, said today the United Nations "will bring the east and west closer together and not drive them apart."

He told reporters he would not bet "one franc on the breakup of the U.N." and warned against "selling the United Nations short."

B.C. Dude Ranch—$1,000 Stamp

A motorcyclist's trip to the Cariboo and his holiday on a Dude Ranch owned by a Victoria man is described by Roy Thorsen in tomorrow's edition of the Victoria Times magazine.

The other day a woman in Torquay, England, picked up a cheap stamp collection. In it she found a Vancouver Island 5-cent stamp that proved to be worth nearly $1,000. This, according to Reginald Nairne, Victoria philatelist, is the average price for this particular rarity. Those who have old Vancouver Island correspondence should not miss the article on Vancouver Island stamps in the magazine tomorrow.

For sportsmen there is a story of the Royal Colwood golf course, while for youngsters is the first of a new series of soccer football hints with illustrations by famous players.

The Garden by Cecil Solly, Music and Drama by Audrey St.D. Johnson, are among the many other features.

British Ship Strikes Mine In Baltic; Lost

COPENHAGEN (Reuter)—A British ship blew up and sank in the Baltic today.

The explosion was said to have been caused by a mine.

Danish aircraft located the scene tonight and reported the crew had been picked up in a fishing boat and taken ashore. The name of the ship was given here as the Leth. (Lloyd's Register does not list any ship by that name.)

No Immediate Boost In Cement Prices After Wage Increase

N. A. Tomlin, managing director of the B.C. Cement Co. Ltd., said today there would be no immediate increase in the price of cement as a result of the company signing a new union contract providing for a 10-cent across the board wage increase.

The completion of negotiations with the Cement, Lime and Gypsum Workers' International Union Local 277 (A.F.L.) was announced today by the Labor Relations Board. Mr. Tomlin said that the increase in wages was the only change from the previous contract.

Mr. Tomlin indicated that the wage boost and other factors in the cost of producing cement would have to be considered by the company in determining whether or not an increase in the price of cement would be made later.

He noted that the price of cement has gone up since the war less than any other building commodity. Present prices are about 15 per cent higher than in 1939.

See "B.C. Cement Workers," page 15.

22 Victorians Take Plane Home After Ferry Strikes Logs

Twenty-two stranded Victorians got back here by chartered plane Thursday night after the Black Ball ferry Chinook came off second best in an encounter with submerged floating logs.

The Victorians were making a day excursion aboard the Chinook en route to Port Angeles on the ferry's last summer schedule trip Thursday afternoon when the streamlined vessel hit the "deadheads."

Because of the Canadian austerity program, the excursioning Victorians found themselves short of cash, but Black Ball officials came to their rescue by chartering a West Coast Airlines plane from Boeing Field, Seattle, and flying the local residents back to Patricia Bay airport from where they were brought into town by bus.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. August H. Andresen (Rep., Min.) said today Canadian and U.S. officials plan to meet soon on the possibility of putting restrictions on imports of Canadian potatoes into the United States.

Demands 'Proper' Inquiry Into Civic Arena Question

A public inquiry into the Memorial Arena question before a competent commissioner in which evidence would be taken under oath, and findings of fact be given, was demanded of the city today.

Harry Langley, local real estate man and an unsuccessful alderman candidate in 1946 who, for many years, has taken an active interest in civic affairs, made the demand.

He feels last week's inquiry by the City Council into the lack of funds to complete the arena was not satisfactory, and states in a letter addressed to Mayor Percy George and city aldermen: "After many years' experience in courts in England, in the U.S.A. and in Canada, this was the first occasion we can recall of a defendant or accused person initiating and conducting its own inquiry."

WOULD CALL MEETING

Mr. Langley told a Victoria Daily Times reporter that if the City Council refuses his demand, he will call a public meeting on the question.

In his letter to the mayor and aldermen he reviews events in the building of the arena since the city took over at the start of this year as its own contractor.

He states that the unwillingness of the 1948 City Council to reopen the matter of the city proceeding with the construction of the rink, when Ald. Waldo Skillings, the new chairman of the arena committee, voiced disapproval of the policy, "confirms that the council is fully responsible for its mistaken and costly policy."

Last week's inquiry presided over by the mayor was a dangerous precedent and should be condemned, Mr. Langley said, continuing:

"Mr. Hamilton (C. T. Hamilton, arena engineer), the building inspector (J. W. Osterink, supervisor of the job), workmen on the job, subcontractors should be properly submitted to examination and cross-examination."

"Certainly the mayor and aldermen should be called as witnesses in order to fix the responsibility for the mistaken policy of the council. Inefficiency may well be the gravamen. It may be that more money is being lost to the city because of the lack of a co-ordinated business system in the City Hall; the lack of such a system might result in more serious financial losses than would be occasioned by fraud."

"This is not the first time that mistrust and charges of incompetence have been hurled at our city administration. There is nothing to encourage the hope, even, that the council will not repeat, again and again, its terrific blunders, its muddling and especially its grandmotherly procedure."

Red-Led Strikes Start In France

PARIS (AP)—The long-feared October strike offensive of Communist-led French labor unions got under way today.

A spokesman for the Red-dominated General Federation of Labor said a four-hour warning strike this morning of 100,000 gas and electrical workers was "total."

Eight telephone calls to various sections of Paris, produced only one report of power being cut off, however. The radio carried a report that labor leaders had decided to refrain from turning off the supply of gas and electricity.

Need For Secrecy May Block Spy Suspects' Trials In U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—A top Congressional spy-hunter said today many persons suspected of espionage in the United States may never come to trial because of the danger of exposing secrets still closely kept.

Discussing this probability, Rep. John McDowell (Rep., Pa.), acting chairman of the House of Representatives Un-American Activities committee, told reporters a "fundamental change" in the United States court processes may be necessary.

McDowell gave an illustration of the situation he said the U.S. Army found itself in during the war. The government then might easily have put its hands on suspected spies, but to have brought them into court might have required presentation of evidence that the United States was making atom bombs—a secret fiercely guarded from Germany and Japan.

Milkmen Must Sleep Later

It is unlawful for milkmen to make deliveries in the city before 6 in the morning and after 6.30 in the evening starting today.

The ruling is laid down in a by-law recalled by W. Percy Wright, assistant city clerk, who pointed to a clause of the by-law which reads:

"No person shall deliver any milk in or from any vehicle by retail in the City of Victoria during the months of October, November, December, January, February, March and April except between the hours of 6 o'clock in the morning and 6.30 o'clock in the afternoon."

But for the months not mentioned, the summer months, milk can be delivered from 4 in the morning through to 6.30 in the evening.

This section of the by-law was passed in December, 1937, under the regime of the late Andrew McGavin as mayor, because of complaints from citizens that early-morning milkmen were disturbing their sleep, particularly those with short hours.

GOERING'S OWN STORY . . . By WERNER BROSS

Why The Marshal Made Best Show At Trial

Installment 11

(Werner Bross, one of Goering's defense lawyers at the Nuremberg trial, took down at Goering's dictation his opinions on many subjects, whether or not they were useful for the defence. Today he tells of the strange motives which guided Goering in presenting his case and the manner in which he faced the court.)

"AFTER ALL," said Hermann Goering to me, "the defence of Germany is the important thing in this trial. It doesn't matter what happens to a few defendants who are going to lose their heads anyhow. What counts is the justification of the German people. Let us accept responsibility and go under with dignity!"

This attitude of Goering's towards the whole Nuremberg trial helps account for his effectiveness in defence. He remained bold, aggressive, quick to take advantage of any loopholes in the prosecution case. He felt only contempt for those of his fellow defendants who sought to diminish their personal guilt either by denying the principles they had followed or by trying to minimize their own importance in the regime which was being accused of its crimes.

He was furious at a defense attorney who put it forward as a mitigating circumstance that the German people were politically immature.

"I could have strangled the fellow!" he cried.

It was in a similar spirit that he objected to questions which the attorneys for the S.A. wished to establish the innocuousness of that organization. I communicated the proposed questions to him and found him quite unwilling to lend himself to any such whitewashing of the Brown Shirts. On the contrary, he gloried in their revolutionary role.

In one of their questions the S.A. lawyers asked: "Was the SA trained for attack or only for defence?" The SA lawyers, of course, wanted Goering to describe it as a purely defensive organization. The idea annoyed him.

"Does the SA want to turn itself into a sewing circle after the fact?" he demanded scornfully.

Truth About SA Troopers

ANOTHER question was to establish the point that SA men had not been told that it was the intention never to give up power again once it had been won by legal means.

"What did they want us to tell SA men who sacrificed their time, risked their jobs, and got their heads broken at meetings?" Goering demanded. "Should we have said: 'We want to win power and you must help us. But as soon as we get into the saddle, we'll be only too willing to give up our places to another parliamentary majority?' That wasn't the idea at all. We fought for power to finish the Weimar Republic, once and for all. I can understand that many an ex-SA man in Germany today is worried, but I owe my old SA the truth!"

"How about this one?" I asked, and read him another of the questions:

"In your testimony you stated that the majority of the old SA men consisted of decent fellows. By 'decent' did you mean moral decency?"

At this Goering burst into roars of laughter. He could hardly get out his answer, he was laughing so hard.

"What a question!" he exclaimed. "So they pick on me to ask that! Oh, those brave, moral SA boys! No, no—I'll do what I can for them, but they'd better leave out that question."

Perhaps one reason why Goering refused to compromise in the interests of his personal defence was that he was convinced it would make no difference anyway. He remarked that the arguments which received the closest attention from the judges were the purely legal ones, and staged a burlesque of the bored attitude of the judges during a non-legal plea for Dr. Schacht, during which some of them leaned their chins on their hands and others covered their eyes to hide the fact that they were closed.

"No use to try to work on their tear glands," he said. "They haven't any."

Refused To Co-operate

THIS OBSERVATION might have led him to careful preparation of his own defence, but it didn't work that way. We often asked him to write down in his own free time, basic material from which we could work, but he always responded vaguely and never produced anything. In fact, I don't recall seeing during the whole trial a single document which originated from Goering himself.

He even made fun of the others for working hard over their defence.

"Fear is making them stupid," he said scornfully. Look at Keitel and Ribbentrop. Day after day Keitel toils away writing memoranda and Ribbentrop wrote in his cell until 4 a.m. before his testimony. I'm against that in principle. Even in my youth, when I had an important examination coming up, I made it a point to rest completely for a week or so in advance. Then I faced the examination fresh and rested."

I could not help wondering whether this was entirely a matter of principle or whether it was not due to the laziness of which Hitler was supposed to have accused him. Rather than work hard on preparation of his defence, he preferred to trust to last-minute improvisation.

He made a remarkably strong impression when he began testifying in his own behalf. This part of his testimony lasted for five sessions of the court—nearly 15 hours, during which Goering talked almost without interruption. Merely as a physical achievement, it was remarkable. It was even more of a mental feat, for Goering displayed the most intense concentration throughout.

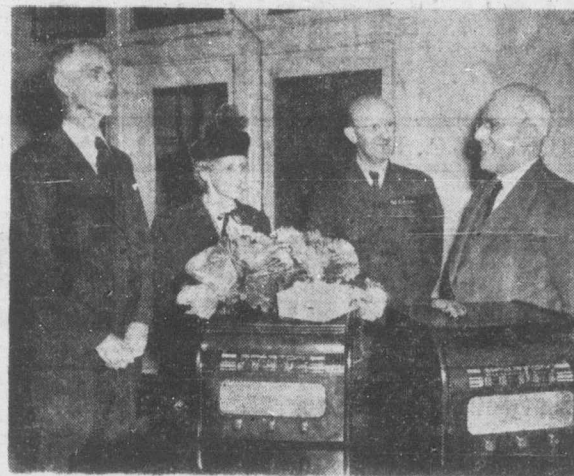

At the beginning his hands trembled violently, betraying his nervousness, but he quickly mastered himself. The result was as much of a surprise for me as for everyone else in the courtroom. He spoke with great self-assurance, chose his words with skill, and used gestures with restraint and moderation.

I admired the effective use he made of the few brief notes he had taken in the last few days concerning his replies to the questions he knew would be asked. His testimony bore out the comment British Ambassador Neville Henderson had once made about him that he had an extraordinary talent for reducing complicated matters to their most simple essentials.

Impressed Everyone

The result was a good press. A number of correspondents sought me out to get Goering's views and an eminent British jurist remarked that he had "plenty of gumption." The Anglo-Saxons were impressed by the calmness, firmness and objectivity of his delivery. The French were struck instead by its polished and accomplished form. Goering himself was very much pleased when I told him that the American correspondents, after taking a vote on the impression made by him, had cabled home that his defence was "very clever."

It continued to be clever under cross-examination, when Goering scored several times against chief American prosecutor Jackson. Some of the embarrassment he caused Jackson was due to poor preparation, which had provided the American prosecutor with documents whose translation into English was far from

Chifley Charges Papers On Atom Secret Stolen, Lost

Chinook Off Run Today Following Propeller Damage

Victoria's Inner Harbor looked a little bare today. The reason was the absence of the streamlined ferry Chinook, taken out of service today for repairs to propeller damage suffered Thursday afternoon when she ran into a log on the Victoria-Port Angeles run.

George Paulin, agent for the Black Ball Line, reported the Chinook would be back in service Saturday. In the meantime, the Vancouver Island-U.S. service of the company was maintained by the Vashon which journeyed to Sidney early this afternoon to carry passengers and cars off the island.

Following the accident, the Chinook continued to Port Angeles and then made her way to Seattle where she entered drydock Thursday night.

unavailable. One such document formed a major part of Jackson's case against Goering for complicity in the extermination of the Jews, of which he denied knowledge.

Jackson produced a letter from Goering's office giving orders for a "total solution" and a "final solution" of the Jewish question. The letter implied clearly enough that the extermination of the Jews was its subject, but mis-translations permitted Goering to discuss the letter and the distinction between "total" and "final" in such a fashion that its meaning was thoroughly obscured before he got through. I was not too certain of the lasting effect of this triumph, for in the written record of the trial which the judges would study it was not nearly so convincing as in the verbal duel in court. But Goering himself thought highly of his achievement.

"I outwitted Jackson brilliantly," he said, grinning broadly. "No lawyer could have handled this document any better."

Jackson also produced a document supposed to have concerned the occupation of the Rhineland, which Goering was able to demonstrate had been mistranslated, for it actually referred to the River Rhine. Jackson, annoyed, asked why, in this case, the order in question was marked "top secret." Goering retorted that he had never heard that the American General Staff was in the habit of making its documents public, at which Jackson lost his temper and asked the court to reprimand the defendant and order him to give direct factual answers instead of making arrogant ironic remarks.

"Goering is fighting back," one journalist said, and a woman reporter wrote to the Oakland Tribune, "Goering wins his round." Goering was happy at this, but added:

"Don't bother me with your congratulations. It's not over yet. I feel as though I were walking through a forest. I can't see anybody, but I know there's someone gunning for me behind every tree."

Tomorrow: Goering believes death was certain from trial's start.

Beginning Of Great Purge

Thus came the second great famine to afflict Russia in my life-time, a famine not of nature's making, but in consequence of the Five-Year Plan. No one will ever know exactly how many millions perished in that planned Communist offensive. But more than once my husband and I heard the line as it was passed down from the highest Bolshevik leaders:

"The collectivization must succeed and the village capitalists crushed, regardless of the cost in human lives."

The catastrophic disruption of the national economy, however, caused deep cracks to be opened in Stalin's iron cohort. The first major sign of the cleavage within the ranks of the ruling caste came in our own Ukraine, and in my own field. The Commissar of Education of the Ukrainian Republic, N. A. Skrypnik, one of Lenin's original band of revolutionists, committed suicide in July, 1933.

Man Of Culture

I HAD heard him address a conference in Voroshilovgrad not long before. He had urged the adoption of the Ukrainian language in all our educational institutions, which was a trying task for many of us whose mother tongue was Russian. But Skrypnik had the reputation of being a humane Bolshevik, and his appearance and manner betokened a man of culture.

Skrypnik's suicide, which reverberated throughout the Soviet Union, was an expression of his dismay over the extermination of millions of Ukrainians lives in the collectivization drive ordered from Moscow. This was freely rumored, for there was much love lost between the Ukrainian nationalists and the Muscovite Russians even within the Communist ranks. It was soon confirmed officially when Stalin's Central Committee denounced his suicide as an "unworthy act of cowardice." Skrypnik was beheaded in the Soviet press after his death, which endeared him to many as a martyr in the cause of the people.

In those days of semi-starvation for all of us, my sister, who lived in England, sent us food parcels on several occasions. My father could not understand why they were not delivered, and traveled all the way to Moscow to investigate. He found that the customs duties were so exorbitant that we could not afford to redeem the parcels. Their contents were then sold at auction.

In addition, my father got into trouble when the political authorities discovered that he had a daughter abroad. When and how had she left for England? Why was her name Robertson? These and many other questions were fired at him. He was sternly admonished that if he were a true Soviet patriot, he would have his daughter come back to Russia.

When he arrived home, he warned us never to mention to anyone again that we had a relative abroad. "Or we'll all perish," he added. "Already maintaining contact with foreigners made one subject to the charge of treason punishable by death."

Denied Her Sister

MY SISTER Eugenia knew little of the atmosphere of fear surrounding us. After a lapse of time during which she had heard nothing from the family, she decided to put through a telephone call from London to another sister of ours then living in Moscow. For an ordinary Soviet citizen to be called to the central office to receive a telephone call from England is to become a person marked for seizure by the NKVD.

"I have no sister in England, it must be a mistake," my Moscow sister flatly told the messenger. "I don't know any such person as Eugenia Robertson," she lied, "and never heard of her."

Those were the days of the assassination of Sergei Kirov, regarded as Stalin's right hand man and successor, days which shook Soviet Russia from one end to the other. There followed immense convulsions within the Red oligarchy. Communists began to devour each other, and the Bolshevik Old Guard which had established the machine of terror was now falling under its own axe wielded by Stalin.

But this was only the beginning of the Great Purge, which in time also engulfed hundreds of thousands of non-political citizens, including a multitude of teachers. It was to swallow Demyan, my husband, and to wrench my life out of its routine.

$200,000 Needed For Arena? Vote On Borrowing Planned

Another money by-law is planned by the city to complete construction of the Memorial Arena, and it is understood the amount will be somewhere in the vicinity of $200,000.

The arena committee held a four-hour closed meeting Thursday afternoon at which Mayor Percy George and other members of the City Council were present as well as Charles T. Hamilton, Vancouver consulting engineer in the building of the rink; J. W. Oosterink, city building inspector who is supervising construction, and Dick Hill, foreman of workmen on the project.

GO TO COUNCIL

Outcome of the meeting was the decision of the committee (Ald. Waldo Skillings, chairman; Ald. M. Aubrey Kent and Ald. Duncan D. McTavish) to ask City Council at its next meeting to approve the placing of a money by-law before the people.

Vote would be taken between Oct. 28 and Nov. 4. It would take until then to prepare the by-law and advertise it, the committee was told.

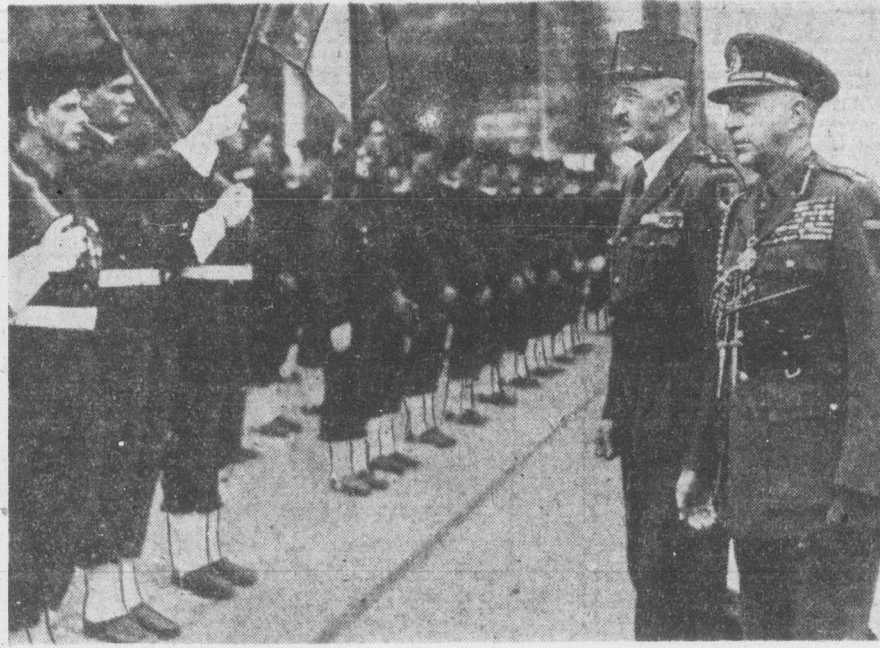

Meanwhile, work on the arena will not be halted. Money held for certain contracts will be used (there is $225,000 in the treasury earmarked commitments). And if the by-law is defeated, committee members state there will be sufficient funds to pay all bills. The contracts would have to be canceled, of course.

COST $750,000

The $200,000 would put the total cost of the arena close to $750,000. Over $725,000 has been made available already, made up from $65,000 donated by public subscription; $150,000 by money by-law; $61,000 insurance on a Willows building destroyed by fire; $125,000 sale price on the Willows Exhibition Grounds, and $325,000 money by-law.

Exact amount to be asked in the latest "and last" by-law will be determined from estimates to be submitted by Mr. Hamilton, Mr. Oosterink in conjunction with Mr. Hill, and an independent contractor.

The three estimates will be studied and the final estimate determined.

Government Retains Glasgow Division Seat In Commons

GLASGOW (Reuter) — The Labor Party retained the House of Commons seat for the Gorbals division of Glasgow on Thursday's by-election, results showed today.

Mrs. Alice Cullen, Labor, won the contest with a clear majority over the combined vote of two opponents. Figures were: Mrs. Cullen, 13,706 votes; Willis Ross, Conservative, 7,181; Peter Kerrigan, Communist, 4,233.

The majority in the Gorbals by-election is less than half that gained by George Buchanan in the 1945 general election, but in the altered circumstances the result is expected to satisfy government supporters.

Buchanan, who resigned the post of Minister of Pensions recently to become chairman of the new National Assistance Board, had occupied the seat continuously for more than 20 years.

He had a unique hold on the affection of the Gorbals electorate, and no new candidate could be expected to emulate his polling strength.

TRIANGULAR CONTEST

The 1945 general election contest was a straight fight between Labor and Conservative candidates, whereas the present fight was triangular between Labor, Conservative and a Communist described as one of the ablest representatives of his party and one of its best speakers.

The Conservative vote rose by nearly 2,000. The Communists, not represented in 1945, polled more than 4,000 votes. This figure is rather more than was generally expected, though it represents little more than one-eighth of the total vote, without which a candidate forfeits the required deposits of $600.

The 1945 figures were Labor 21,073, Conservatives 5,269.

Want Lend-Lease Revived For West

THE HAGUE (Reuter)—The Catholic newspaper De Tijd called Friday night for renewal of lend-lease from the United States as the only way of financing a common defence system for the five Western Union countries. This, the paper added, "will undoubtedly make heavy demands on the United States, but will in the long run certainly be cheaper for them than a war to liberate western Europe again."

Says London Wrong As Defence Centre

PARIS (AP)—Gen. de Gaulle said today the five-power defence pact for western Europe solves no defence problems because it is centred in London.

"It is wrong to centre in London the defence of Europe," De Gaulle said.

In his comments De Gaulle took it for granted the new defence groups would head up in London, although there has been no official indication of this. His assumption evidently was prompted by approval of the British cabinet of the selection of Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery as chief of the new defence union. The five powers are expected to announce Viscount Montgomery's appointment soon. De Gaulle commended Montgomery as a general.

Jap Ex-Minister Accused Of Bribery

TOKYO (AP)—Takeo Kuruusu, former Finance Minister, is in custody in connection with Japan's most sensational post-war bribery case.

The 54-year-old Kuruusu, now chairman of Japan's Economic Stabilization Board, was arrested Thursday on suspicion of taking a bribe in the Showa Denko Fertilizer Company case.

About 20 bankers, industrialists and politicians already have been arrested. Kuruusu is the first Japanese of cabinet rank to be held.

Wisner Opposes Amendments To Labor Act Urged By Bird

Labor Minister Gordon S. Wisner, replying to proposals of Mr. Justice H. I. Bird for the amendment of the B.C. labor laws, today said he opposed the concept of labor courts to replace conciliation boards, favored the continuation of granting retroactive pay increases and approved present provisions concerning the admissibility of evidence to conciliation boards.

Mr. Justice Bird, chairman of a conciliation board which worked out a formula for the settlement of the dispute of coast woodworkers and certain operators, had suggested that the labor code be amended to empower the Labor Relations board to appoint all members of conciliation boards. At the present time the board appoints only the chairman if the nominees of labor and employer are unable to agree on a board chairman.

"I personally would be very much opposed to such an amendment," said Mr. Wisner in a statement. "In my opinion it would defeat the whole purpose of what I consider to be one of the finest labor acts on the continent."

He said that the board is not a labor court and that its decisions are not binding on anyone.

NO DICTATION

"I am utterly opposed to the establishment of a labor court because I do not believe that workmen or employers of this country desire to have any tribunal dictate to them as to the question of wages or other conditions of employment," said the labor minister. He added that the whole purpose of the act was to provide machinery for orderly discussion of disputes so that agreements on all relevant matters may be reached without resort to the destructive and costly method of the strike or lockout.

"Unless you are to accept the principle of a labor court, with which concept I entirely disagree, there is no other method of dealing with these matters," he said.

Mr. Wisner said he disagreed with Mr. Justice Bird that the principle of retroactive application of wage increases is unsound and should be discouraged.

"It is true that a new wage scale should not be made retroactive as a matter of course," said Mr. Wisner, "but where, as in many instances, it can be shown that at the date of the commencement of the dispute a raise in the wage scale was justifiable and one to which the workmen were entitled as at that date, then I think it would be a manifest injustice if the men were not allowed the benefits to which they were justly entitled, by reason of delays in the conciliation proceedings."

"In other cases where wage agreements terminate at a certain date and negotiations are going on for a new agreement, what possible justification would there be for forcing the workmen to continue on the old scale if the evidence indicated that an increase was warranted as of that date?" he asked.

Mr. Justice Bird also suggested that decisions on admissibility of evidence should be the discretion of the chairman, rather than the whole board at present.

"With great deference I do not agree with this suggestion for the reasons I have previously stated," said Mr. Wisner. "The conciliation board is not in any sense a judicial tribunal, and if the representatives of both parties are not permitted control over the nature of the evidence to be admitted the workers and employers felt that they were to be subject to the control of a chairman who, in the great majority of cases is not a judge, as to the nature of the evidence they would submit, I am afraid that there would be a tendency to illegally avoid such arbitrations."

"I feel that to limit the discussion and the nature of the evidence would defeat the purpose of the act, which is to allow full discussion of grievances so that, if possible, an amicable settlement may be reached."

'COOLING OFF' PERIOD

The minister went on to say: "In all of these matters the whole purpose of the act is being obscured. It is to avoid disastrous strikes and lockouts by insisting upon a 'cooling off' period when in the prescribed process of orderly negotiation the parties—employer and labor—will endeavor to iron out and settle their differences."

Mr. Wisner said that the facts prove the I.C.A. Act has been a great success. Since the first of this year there have been certified 552 bargaining authorities, involving approximately 10,000 workers. In that period there have been more than 168 industrial disputes. In that time there have been appointed 67 conciliation boards.

"Yet there has been less interruption of industrial activity than at any period in our history," he said. "But it seems to me that the real test of the act is this—that whereas last year, before the amendment, there were many unauthorized and illegal activities on the part of both sides, including many unauthorized strike votes and some unauthorized and illegal activities, this year, and since the amendment of the act, I know of no case in which the parties have not proceeded strictly in accordance with the act."

At Least Three Die In Quebec Blaze Despite Heroism

QUEBEC (CP)—Death toll in a mid-evening $35,000 fire that swept a crowded three-story block in the St. Roch quarter rose to three today when burns and shock suffered by a day-old infant proved fatal.

The baby's mother, Mrs. Paul Eugene Drolet, 39, and a man tentatively identified as 50-year-old Paul Henley, veteran of the two world wars, were the other victims.

The heroism of Paul Eugene Drolet, who carried three of his children to the street down a ladder, prevented a higher count of dead in the building occupied by 75 tenants. He suffered burns.

Drolet rescued a 10-year-old son, Henri, as well as another of his six children and the day-old infant from the burning building.

Siamese Put Down Attempted Revolt

BANGKOK (Reuter)—Siamese police today frustrated what was officially described as a major plot to overthrow the government by force.

Squads of armed police swooped on the alleged plotters just before dawn and arrested 22, including a number of military officers—retired and on active service—as well as civilian officials.

More arrests are expected, police said.

OUT OF HIS DEPTH

FROM TIME TO TIME IN RECENT months the people of Canada have heard various reasons why it was thought desirable for Mr. John Bracken to resign from the leadership of the Progressive Conservative Party. Some have advanced the idea that ill-health demanded that he take matters more leisurely. We hope this is not the case, because our recollection of the former Premier of Manitoba—when he was a proponent of basic Liberal philosophy in that important province—conspires up an outdoor man of vigor who could smile at all the world when he hit a golf ball off the tee for more than 200 yards.

Other reports have persisted that the prairie politician who "allowed" himself to be "drafted" to the leadership of the national Conservative Party on that early December day in 1942 has not "produced the goods" as translated in terms of the western vote. Nor has he. To be sure, there are more Tories sitting on the left of Mr. Speaker in the House of Commons today than there were before the general election three years ago last June. But, despite all the brickbats which have been hurled at the King administration by Mr. Bracken and those of his colleagues who desperately want to get into office merely to try to show that there is life in the old Tory dog yet, nothing on the political horizon suggests that even a new leader will be able to turn the trick. Of course the former chief of the party's valedictory at yesterday's session of his party's convention was not expected to be charged with any world-shattering pronouncements.

However, those who heard the full text of Mr. Bracken's speech over the airways—or who read extracts which appeared in our news columns yesterday—must have deduced sufficient from his airy generalities to understand why the eastern Progressive Conservative Board of Strategy felt the time had come to select somebody else to come to the aid of the party. But the inner hierarchy ought to have been able to present their leader with something more pungent in the form of a creed for his successor than that which Mr. Bracken tossed off in the guise of a peroration. Here it is:

An economic creed "that will command our faith."
A political philosophy "in which we can all have confidence."
A humanitarian program that will "meet our social problems."
A peacetime policy which was "most likely to head off war."

All that is left to say about Mr. Bracken and his leadership—even some of his friends call it misleadership—is that when Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen persuaded him to take over the fortunes of a moribund party nearly six years ago the former Premier of Manitoba let himself in for something out of his range.

INTO THE DEPTHS

THE MAN WHOSE SCIENTIFIC CURIOSITY took him, a few years ago, ten miles into the stratosphere, is now completing arrangements to descend more than two miles under water in a steel shell—more than four times farther below the surface than man has ever ventured. Prof. Auguste Piccard, the Swiss scientist-explorer who has spent most of his life in Belgium, is putting the finishing touches to the equipment that will enable him to survive the colossal pressures on the ocean floor, and he hopes eventually to reach depths of three and a half miles, heretofore considered impossible.

The earth, and particularly that part of it covered by thousands of feet of water, still has many secrets to be discovered. Underwater photography, using specially-designed equipment and lighting, has recently given a hint of the queer living creatures that inhabit the depths. But Prof. Piccard, if successful, will be the first to gaze on them directly. His will be the thrill of the pioneer, the "first to arrive" in a new and strange world. His reports on fauna and flora, his study of cosmic rays and observations on other scientific phenomena will enlarge human knowledge and perhaps benefit humanity. But the personal triumph—the feeling of having crossed new frontier—and opened up new kingdoms—will be his alone. It is a distinction to which a lifetime of careful study and scientific work fully entitles him.

SAYS THE O'LEARY

AFTER DIGESTING SOME PARTS OF the address Mr. Gratian O'Leary, associate editor of the Conservative Ottawa Journal and temporary joint chairman of the convention of the National Progressive Conservative Party, delivered yesterday, we find ourselves almost out of breath.

Our journalistic friend of the outstanding Tory newspaper in the national capital certainly let himself go when he told the assembled delegates of the faithful that the King Government had made "a mockery of democracy," that the "Liberal Party has been betraying Liberalism, betraying freedom," and that its only claim to the title of "Liberal" was that it was "liberal with other people's money."

Just what Mr. O'Leary will suggest Mr. Bracken's successor as the leader of the National Progressive Conservative Party should do to counteract the effects of a policy pursued by a government which he argues has made "a mockery of democracy" will be awaited with interest by those millions of Canadians whose collective decision at the polls has elected a Tory Administration only once since 1921.

Naturally enough, Mr. O'Leary indulged his political humor to the limit when he alluded to Mr. Mackenzie King's penchant for "government by anniversaries." But the able associate editor of the Ottawa Journal, familiar as he is with the doings of the lawmakers on Parliament Hill, must have had his tongue in his cheek when he dug into his lexicon for so many epigrams with which to belabor an administration over which Mr. Mackenzie King has presided so efficiently for so long. It was probably an oversight that he failed to blame the Liberals for Victoria's arena situation. And he neglected to accuse them of throwing the overalls in Mrs. Murphy's chowder.

Perhaps Mr. O'Leary, having delivered himself of so much platitudinous piffle, will tell the convention whether Mr. Bracken's deal with the Tory party in December, 1942, did or did not help his or its cause when he insisted upon the prefix "Progressive" to the nomenclature of an ancient Canadian political organization—about the 11th change of name since Confederation.

LONELY IN THERE

FEW APPLICATIONS FOR RELEASE from prison could be less touching than that submitted to the Pennsylvania board of pardons by Percy Reid Miller, now serving a three-to-six year sentence for robbery. Young Mr. Miller has informed members of the board that:

"Frankly, gentlemen, I am homesick. Give me a crack at the outside world again, and if I fail you I will be more surprised than anybody."

There is something charmingly ambiguous in his plea for another "crack at the outside world," but unless his case contains more merit than is indicated in his pleadings for freedom, he should be "more surprised than anybody" if it is successful. Too bad that a man should be left to loneliness in a penitentiary just because he was convicted of robbery!

A MATTER OF NECESSITY

IT IS A SIGN OF THE TIMES THAT THE same day's news items should carry two accounts, coming from widely separated quarters, dealing with the shortage of students who plan to enter the ministry. In Toronto, the annual meeting of members of the Women's Auxiliary of the Anglican Church was urged to encourage sons to enter holy orders, and daughters to take up full-time church work. At the same time, the General Council of the United Church, meeting in Vancouver, was told that a lack of theological students threatens the existence of two of the colleges maintained by that denomination, including Union College, located on the campus of U.B.C. In five United Church colleges throughout the country, delegates were informed, there are only 88 students in arts and 67 in theology. "How can you get any college spirit with four men in a class?" they were asked. A further indication of the situation was seen in the Anglican report that a request to the Archbishop of Canterbury for 50 young clergymen for service in western Canada was met with the reply that England, too, was experiencing a shortage of ministers.

This is a trend that, if continued, will obviously be felt in the near future as retirements through age and other causes deplete the ranks of the men of the cloth. And it represents a shortage in those trained to provide moral guidance that will be experienced at a time when, judging by the daily headlines, the world is most in need of such counsel. What lies back of the apparent reluctance of young men to study for the ministry? Has the impact of two wars within a generation destroyed the incentive to save souls? Does it seem fruitless to dedicate one's life to the relief of a humanity that may be destined to disappear tomorrow in an atomic blast? Has economic insecurity made the young man hesitant to enter the pulpit when he can satisfy his urge toward a life of humanitarian endeavor by entering some better paid field? Has the church itself, and Christianity, lost its power to attract followers, and consequently men to lead them, in these postwar days?

These are questions that must be receiving the earnest study of church authorities and all who spend their lives in furthering the work of organized Christian religion. But they should also be the subject of serious consideration among the men and women of this country who boast of living in a "Christian community" but who take no part in the support or encouragement of church facilities. The problem may be given clearer emphasis by putting it in reverse. What would be the effect on the individual, the city and the country if there were no church to be found in the length and breadth of the land? The inescapable unanimity of the answer to that question should set the course of public action.

FIGHTING FIRE WITH FIRE?

ACCORDING TO A HOLLYWOOD columnist, the perpetrator of one of the give-away shows now under censure has plans for another. The columnist reports that prizes include almost everything but the liner Queen Mary. And the show, or stunt, will benefit mental health. We like that curative touch. Having driven a large portion of the continent's radio listeners out of their minds, the new feature is suggested as a means of counteracting the influence of its predecessors.

The Russians' refusal to enter the Olympics was part of their iron curtain. They won't expose anything if they can't be proud of it.

CRIPPS IN WASHINGTON

THE CHANCELLOR of the Exchequer, Sir Stafford Cripps, comes to Washington with an impressive record of achievement at home and abroad. Among Americans who study the record there can be no doubt about the self-reliance of the British people in their struggle to recover their financial independence.

AS GOOD A MEASURE as any of how hard they have worked, how austere they have been willing to live, is to be had by looking at the figures which show what percentage of their imports were paid for by their exports before the war and after. In 1918 only a little more than half (55 per cent) of the goods they imported were paid for by goods produced in the United Kingdom and then exported. In the first quarter of this year exports paid for three-quarters of the imports. In the month of July—the latest available figures—the proportion had been jacked up to four-fifths.

THIS HAS BEEN DONE by producing more and consuming less. There is no precedent for so much effort and for so much sacrifice by a free people in time of peace.

The record of economic collaboration with the Marshall plan countries is also impressive. There have been difficulties and controversies, there have been disagreements and pressure, about the allocation of direct aid from the United States and about intra-European mutual aid. But agreements are now in sight which make the United Kingdom the largest, Belgium-Luxembourg the second largest, contributor to intra-European recovery.

SO WHILE the United Kingdom is to receive $1,263,000,000 in direct aid from the United States, she will be contributing $282,000,000 to Europe. She is also allowing European countries to buy out of their sterling balances $218,000,000 of British goods. Thus in the 12 months ending June 30 of next year the United Kingdom will be exporting to Europe about $500,000,000 in goods for which she will not receive goods in return. That is nearly 40 per cent of the direct aid she will receive from the United States.

YET THE CHANCELLOR will find in Washington what he no doubt already knows—that there is considerable concern and disappointment about British policy in Europe. Senator Fulbright expressed this feeling in London last week when he said that "the real purpose of the Marshall plan is to help some kind of united Europe able to stand on its own feet. If there is no acceptance of at least the principles of this plan after a year's trial, if the objective is eliminated, it will be difficult to find votes to continue financing the plan."

THERE IS A VERY real problem of Anglo-American relations here which will have to be clarified before the new Congress meets next year. Reduced to its essentials the problem is, I think, as follows: The large sums appropriated for the recovery program by Congress were voted on the assumption that a European system, which Britain would take the lead in forming, could be developed. There is now an impression that this British government is reluctant to enter a European system. If that impression is correct, then the whole project of western union will have to be reconsidered.

THIS MAY NOT MEAN, and it certainly should not mean, the discontinuation of Marshall aid. But it will mean that its political foundations can not be what Congress and the people were told they would be, and that a different continental policy will have to be worked out.

For if Britain concludes that its interests in the Commonwealth and in the non-European world prevent it from entering a European union, then what is to be the British and what is to be the American conception of the future of continental Europe?

IT IS EVIDENT that in so far as Britain remains aloof, the position of France is profoundly affected. Thus far in dealing with Germany the leadership in the west has been British, on the basic questions more British than American. But it will be impossible for the French to accept, it will impose an intolerable strain upon any French government to accept, a condition in which Britain is withdrawn from the continent and yet able to exercise a greater and more decisive influence than is France upon the settlement with Germany. (Copyright, 1948, N.Y. Herald Tribune Inc.)

Norwegian Students Have Problems

Norway Digest

THIS MONTH the University of Oslo, Norway's largest single academic institution, opened its doors to 2,000 entering freshmen. The coming weeks promise to be difficult ones for the new arrivals from all corners of the land who must find housing, secure books, and work out schedules in line with over-taxed teaching facilities.

Addressing the traditional assembly of young men and women in University Square, University President Otto Lous Mohr extolled the enlightened individual in modern society. "We have seen," noted the speaker, "how on a grandiose scale the appeal to this imperial horde mentality has served the cause of lies and mass-suggestion." He reiterated the place of the University and how its respect for truth, reason and objectivity provided a defence against "all of these falsifying tendencies."

FINDING A ROOM

Oslo pedestrians turned around and looked twice last week when University freshman Johan Landmark decided to take his personal housing problem to the people.

Though some 800 of his fellow students are in similar straits, Johan was the first one to paint up a sandwich board reading, "What Can You Do to Find Me a Room?" and take it out through the streets of the capital. At last report, this American-style direct action technique had paid off, and there was one less homeless student in Oslo.

A LONG WAIT

Others of the University's 2,000 new students were not faring so well, however. Two of them pitched a tent on the campus and decided to take up the hunt from there. Still others were quartered in sleeping bags on the floors of city gymnasiums.

Student and University officials predict that many weeks must yet pass before housing can be found for out-of-town students arriving in the crowded capital.

New Approach Needed?

From Public Opinion, London

AN increase in crime is a warning to us to reform the pattern of our society—to check the growth of insecurity and a social behaviour which belong to that complex of militarism and centralization termed, by Geddes, megalopolitanism, says the "Lancet."

THE CONSERVATISM of the judges has in the past gained important victories for the rights of the individual, and the administration of justice, which they represent, is not a field in which medicine can reasonably intrude.

TO attempt to remove all judicial control over such disposal would be a dangerous step for civil liberty; but penology is a field in which psychology and the bench ought to meet on a basis of co-operation, in the interests both of society and of the offender.

DIRECT CONFLICT

Unfortunately the attitude of the law to-day, the cynicism of the courts towards medical testimony, the absurdities of the McNaghten rule, and the fundamental unreason of many features of the penal system which the courts uphold with enthusiasm, all father a direct conflict far more probable than any such co-operation.

THE OUTCOME of such a conflict cannot be doubted, but it may well be protracted and bitter. Not only the criminal, but the public at large—the chief concern of the reformer as well as the court—will inevitably suffer; and such a struggle between science and authority (already manifest in the difficulty which independent psychiatrists have found when required to testify, or to treat patients under existing conditions) might well damage Western conceptions of justice and humanity.

The Olympics Came To Me

MY FEET hurt and I'm all in. I just finished third in the Olympic marathon by proxy. I'm like that. When I see a picture that appeals to me I automatically assume a role. Just call me Mitty.

After the preview of "Olympic Glory of Sport," coming for public showing to a local theatre shortly, I'm exhausted. The film takes you right into the competitions. You are running beside Arthur Wint of Jamaica as he takes Herb McKenley at the tape for the first one-two victory of his country in Olympic competition.

And because you are a Canadian, you take particular delight in standing beside Barbara Ann Scott as Canada's queen of the ice sweeps gracefully through her figures to first honors in the Winter Games.

Here is a film which gives you something more than a bleacher view of the greatest athletic events in the annals of amateurism. It takes you to the border of the track, to the side of the swimming pool, the edge of the rink. It is a documentary to set a standard for all documentaries. Nothing appears faked, nothing is distorted by the interweaving of a phony plot. It is the Olympics in full color and scope, each dramatic highlight caught by the camera's eye, each featured finish set down in visual record. At virtually prohibitive cost, the individual might have witnessed many, though not all, of these events. Within the space of two hours, they are revealed from the finest vantage point upon the screen. And though they will be caught up with the excitement of the spectacle, those privileged to see the film need not spend their nervous energies in vicarious participation as this writer did.—A.H.S.

Applauded

Ottawa Journal

Britain is delaying the demobilization of her armed forces, doubling the production of her fighter aircraft, and intensifying recruiting, whereupon Canadians applaud.

The applause is deserved; but mightn't it be better if we could give some of the same sort of applause to some sort of similar action by our own government.

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press News Analyst

DEAN ACHESON, former undersecretary of state for the United States, declared in a speech before the Michigan State bar association yesterday that the tide has turned against the Russian drive for greater power.

"The difficulties, the dangers, the crises have not disappeared," said Acheson. "The Russian efforts to consolidate and extend their power have not ceased—they may be intensified."

"But the tide has turned and is running against them."

Your correspondent must hold that analysis as there, certainly is plenty of evidence that the Communists have seen their best days.

On the face of it the Communists made heavy gains during and since the war. However, I believe time will show that most of these gains are more apparent than real, because many of them have been achieved, not by conversion to the ism but by trickery and force. There is bound to be a reaction in due course.

WAR-WON GAINS

The case of Czechoslovakia is typical evidence. She hasn't been converted to Communism, and she will strike for her freedom when the opportunity arises.

The Reds had easy picking for a long time, gobbling up helpless countries occupied by Soviet troops. But now the Communist offensive in Europe has bogged down in the face of resistance by the democracies who refuse to follow the appeasement trail to Munich.

That's why we see the Russians now trying to gain their ends in Germany by taking calculated chances of precipitating war. They don't want war, but are desperate enough to gamble.

CHIEF SUCCESS

Of course the Communists have sold an ideological bill of goods in many countries. Their chief success, however, has been in taking advantage of economic distress. Folk who are suffering privation often are ready to gamble politically in an effort to get relief, and so the Communists have sold their mess of pottage as good roast beef.

The Communists are straining every nerve to keep their world revolution going, and the fight between Communism and democracy is far from over. However, the tide of battle has turned.

FRIENDLY HELP

London (Ont.) Free Press

It is not easy to survive being transplanted to a new land, where everything and everybody is strange, and where even the language is different from what one has been accustomed to. But the transition can be made more easily if there is some indication of interest and friendliness on the part of one's new neighbors.

Of course newcomers have their duties and responsibilities too, but they are much more likely to become good Canadians if they feel that they are accepted and made welcome by those already here.

TICKING BOMB

Calgary Herald

Lenin said that nationalism was reactionary. Well, human beings are a pretty reactionary lot. All the jargon of all the internationalists can't shake the average man loose from his devotion to his own particular tribe.

The Poles have shown that in the past, and will quite likely show it in the future. The Hungarians, too, will be heard from, and the Czechs have a score to settle. All in all, we'd say that the Russians have a big time bomb on their doorstep, and that it's merrily ticking away.

TAYLOR'S TURMOIL

Washington Post

If any evidence were needed that Henry Wallace's running mate, Senator Glen Taylor, has gone off the deep end, Mr. Taylor supplied it in an outburst at Madison, Wis. "Nazis are running our American government," Senator Taylor charged. "So why should Russia make peace with them. If I was a Russian at the Moscow Conference, I wouldn't agree to anything."

These shocking words cannot be excused as a mere bit of campaign rashness. They come from a man elected by the people of Idaho to fulfill the high responsibility of a United States Senator.

Mrs. John Bracken Received Farewell Gifts From Friends

OTTAWA (CP)—A tearful Mrs. John Bracken looked down at the pearls and the diamond-studded wristwatch.

"Thank you so much," she told some 300 women delegates who crowded into the small room off the main convention auditorium to witness this presentation to the wife of the retiring leader of the Progressive Conservative Party.

Several women wept a bit themselves during her farewell address. Then they all sang "For She's a Jolly Good Fellow," cheered and applauded the snowy-haired woman, as she stumbled for a moment over her speech, dabbed a blue-gloved hand across her eyes, and then continued.

"It has been a privilege to work with you . . . and to see how the women members of the party have grown in such numbers over these last six years."

In presenting the gifts, Mrs. George Black of Whitehorse, N.W.T., paid tribute to Mrs. Bracken and the fine work she had done for the Conservatives.

"I am glad to be here in the eventide of my life," said Mrs. Black. "I'll be 83 my next birthday and for 47 years I have worked like a slave for the Conservative Party."

"When I was a girl no lady took part in politics," said Mrs. Black, recalling her first steps into politics alongside her husband, member of Parliament for Yukon.

"There is no place in the world where the men are as loyal to their friends as in the Yukon."

The twinkling-eyed veteran reflected a moment on a venture into Parliament 13 years ago when for a term she took her husband's place as Yukon representative.

"Those men didn't want a woman representing them, but they stood by me," she said.

Vows Exchanged In Evening Service

Father T. Mangan heard the nuptial vows of Miss Catherine Crandall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Crandall, 723 Princess Avenue, and Fred H. Scott, 2235 Government Street, in a quiet ceremony Thursday evening at Sacred Heart Rectory.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Scott came from Lake Cowichan to attend their son's marriage.

With her crepe afternoon frock in tapestry grey, the bride wore an off-face felt hat in wine, trimmed with grey veiling, wine accessories and corsage bouquet of deep red roses. A single strand pearl necklace completed her ensemble.

Miss Kathleen Dawson, bridesmaid, chose navy accessories to accept her crepe afternoon frock in light blue, and her corsage bouquet was in tone with her costume.

Jimmy Scott assisted his brother as best man. Friends and relatives extended best wishes to the newlyweds at a small reception at the home of the bride's parents. D. Burgess proposed the wedding toast.

A four-tier wedding cake centred the table, which was set with white candles and vases of rosebuds.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott are motoring up-island on their wedding trip, and will return to the city to make their home.

The bride changed to a two-piece wool suit in powder blue with topcoat to match, for traveling.

Collegians Frosh Dance At Crystal

Freshmen with ties and shirts on backward, odd shoes and socks and signs telling their "social standing" and freshettes with no make-up, five pigtails, short skirts and bobby socks, all added to the merriment of the annual Frosh Dance, sponsored by the Students' Council of Victoria College at the Crystal Garden last night. A Sophomore committee, Evelyn Usher, Marie Wilson and Anne Gill, checked these compulsory details of frosh attire as each new arrival came through the doorway to the dance floor. Roy Griffith's orchestra played for dancing, his program including a frosh medley with many unusual innovations and an elimination spot dance, won by Sophomores Elaine Maynard and Al Barnes.

The 69-year-old machinist, who retired from National Railways four years ago, considers autographs of movie stars as "strictly for high school kids." The collection includes signatures of "the 20 best Allied generals." These include Generals Eisenhower, Crerar, Foulkes and Viscount Alexander.

Estonian-Latvian Refugees Worship In Immigration Hall

HALIFAX (CP)—The strains of the well-loved hymn, "Nearer My God to Thee," sung simultaneously in three languages, came drifting out of the recreation hall of immigration quarters here.

It was the weekly service of the 99 Estonian and Latvian refugees from Communism seeking a new life in Canada after crossing the Atlantic in tiny craft.

At the suggestion of Capt. Eric Past, skipper of the refugee ship Ostervag, services are conducted each Sunday night by ministers from Halifax and Dartmouth churches.

Prayers, scriptural readings and sermon are given first in English, in Estonian by Capt. Past, and then in Latvian by 65-year-old Mrs. Elizabeth Henning of Liepaja, Latvia, affectionately called "Mother" by all the would-be Canadians.

Choral music is supplied by an all-Negro choir, accompanied by a portable organ.

An informal note is injected into the service when cries from babies in bed in a large dormitory across the hallway call several anxious parents from their devotions.

HIGHLIGHT OF WEEK

The services are considered the highlight of the week although many have been entertained in Halifax homes, and driven through the surrounding area.

During the day the refugees spend many hours attempting to master English, but the 40 children among them provide a noisy distraction.

Some of the women and children are quartered in large dormitories, while family groups of three or four occupy small private rooms and the single men sleep in dormitories which accommodate 50.

There is a nursery for the smaller children, and opening off the recreation room and overlooking the harbor is a large veranda, where the children play during the day, and their mothers hang their wash at night.

Arriving here from Gothenburg, Sweden, aboard two small vessels, the Capry and the Ostervag, the refugees have been at immigration quarters for four weeks.

and it was decided to hold regular meetings on the second Wednesday of each month, the next gathering being on Oct. 13.

Britain Sounded Out On Pledge To Make Pounds Convertible

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. delegates to the International Monetary Conference have been quietly sounding out Britain on her obligations under the $3,750,000,000 loan from the United States.

Closed conferences took place between sessions of the governing boards of the World Bank and the International Monetary Fund, diplomatic officials disclosed. The governors closed their third annual meeting today.

The hub of the British-U.S. talks was the requirement in the British loan agreement that Britain make the pound sterling freely convertible into dollars in foreign exchange. This requirement was waived temporarily last year with U.S. consent.

There is no belief that Britain will be able to restore "convertibility" in the near future. But the United States, it is reported, would like to get a pledge from Britain that she will work toward the goal of convertibility as rapidly as possible.

Britain attempted to make good on the requirement in July of last year, but the effort quickly brought on the British "dollar crisis."

The rush of other countries to convert their unspendable pounds into dollars almost exhausted what was left of the loan and caused such a drain on Britain's dollar reserves that top British officials flew to Washington for help. The waiver agreement followed.

U.S. officials said privately they had no hope in the present meetings of pinning down a date when convertibility could be resumed.

But they wish to keep in touch with Britain's economic progress.

Doctors Fear Political Control Of Hospital Plan

VANCOUVER (CP) — Closer co-operation between the fields of public health and curative medicine was urged here Thursday.

Dr. T. C. Routley of Toronto, general secretary of the Canadian Medical Association, advocated administration of all health plans by a non-political health commission.

Addressing the annual convention of the B.C. Medical Association, Dr. Routley said: "There has arisen in this country a schism between public health and therapeutic medicine." The meeting approved the principle of contributory health insurance, and opposed that of state medicine.

Dr. Frank Turnbull of Vancouver said the B.C. contributory hospital scheme was set up for administration by one man, responsible only to the minister. "If ever there was a set-up that ensured political control, this is it," he said.

The medical profession lined itself up behind the health plan, but refused to take the blame if the plan worked a hardship for patients.

The meeting pointed out that abrupt introduction of the plan throw a heavy demand on existing hospital facilities. A large-scale program to expand nurse-training and bed-space facilities should have preceded the act.

New Red Drive On Poland Peasants

WARSAW (AP) — The Communists are stepping up their drive against Poland's peasantry, whose inclinations toward capitalism have the government worried.

Roman Zambrowski, member of the Communist Party Politburo, said in a speech that some 226,000 peasants, many of them members of the Communist Party, are tainted by "personal advantages." Of these, he said, there are 20,000 who own 25 to 50 acres of land, and many "have become capitalists."

The party's executive committee has appointed action squads to conduct a "purifying campaign."

New Australian Citizenship Bill

CANBERRA (Reuter) — Immigration Minister Arthur Calwell Thursday introduced a bill to establish Australian citizenship. The bill, he said, would establish for the first time the principle of Australian citizenship while maintaining the common bond of British nationality within the British Commonwealth.

Russians Reported Employing 25,000 Former Nazi Officers

BERLIN (Reuter)—An estimated 25,000 German officers are "on the Soviet payroll," the British-licensed weekly newspaper Berliner Montags Echo charges.

The paper says the group includes 80 generals and 18 admirals.

In a review of the use by Russia of former German army and navy officers "for military and political aims," the newspaper says it is a well-known fact in the eastern zone of Germany that highly qualified fighting members of the German army disappeared quickly after returning home from prisoner-of-war camps in Russia.

"The explanation, of course, is that they are taken away again to be schooled," the newspaper says. "Then, after long training, they reappear in Soviet army units, as has been proved by the capture of a number of them in China and on other 'democratic people's' fronts."

The paper then gives news of the present whereabouts of several well-known German officers. Field Marshal Paulus, it says, now is a "teacher of tactics" at the Moscow Military Academy.

Col. Gen. von Richtofen, commander of the "Condor Legion" which fought for Generalissimo Franco in the Spanish civil war, is reported attached to an air training school in the Crimea.

They'll Do It Every Time

Common Cold Symptoms Cured By Inhaling Penicillin Dust

CHICAGO (AP)—Penicillin dust, inhaled directly into the nose, throat and lungs has cured symptoms of the common cold in one to three days, three physicians reported today.

Their study, published in the Journal of the American Medical Association, showed: That a group of 169 common-cold patients treated, 42 per cent were considered cured and 38 per cent showed marked improvement.

"These phenomena cannot be fully explained on the basis of the known properties of penicillin and need further investigation," the doctors said, adding: "In many instances the penicillin dust seemed to exert a vasoconstrictor (shrinking) action of the mucous membrane of the nose and throat."

"Patients stated they could breathe more freely through the nose and the stuffiness and congestion of the acute rhinitis (inflammation of the mucous membrane of the nose) often improved immediately after treatment."

PAIN RELIEVED

"Also, on occasion, the pain of an acutely sore throat was ameliorated in a half-hour to one hour after treatment."

Pending further study, the researchers are assuming the penicillin dust attacks not the virus that causes the cold, but the bacteria that prolong it.

Penicillin dust inhalations multiply by many times the concentration of the drug that can be brought directly to the site of respiratory infections. One purpose of further studies will be to determine whether heavy doses of penicillin actually affect the virus itself.

3 TO 6 MINUTES

In the inhalation treatment, patients merely breathe in the dust through a mask one to three times daily. Three to six minutes are required for each dose and patients can go about their business without loss of time and with minimum expense.

The study of penicillin treatments of various respiratory tract infections was conducted by Dr. Louis Krasno of the department of clinical science of

Truman Says N.M.A. Killed Price Control

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—President Truman said Thursday night the National Association of Manufacturers had organized a conspiracy against the American consumer and spent $3,000,000 to destroy price control.

Truman said "it's time for a change," a change that will bring Democrats back into control of Congress and get action against high prices and for more housing.

Report Chest X-Ray Survey Expected To Start Next Month

Citizens have been invited to visit the offices of the chest X-ray survey headquarters, now in the offices of the health department in the City Hall, for any information regarding tuberculosis.

Health officials said actual

X-raying is expected to start on Nov. 1 and not in October as first planned. Plans were now being completed for the 1948 Greater Victoria chest X-ray survey, which was expected to exceed that of last year, they said.

Volunteers will be needed to assist in the preparation of lapel tags which will be given to all persons X-rayed, officials said. P.T.A. groups have already signified their intention of assisting in the work in the residential areas of Victoria West, James Bay and North Ward.

Boost Alexander To Succeed Monty

LONDON (CP)—The Evening Standard, in its gossip column "A Londoner's Diary," Thursday night advanced the name of Field Marshal Viscount Alexander, Governor-General of Canada, as a possible successor to Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery as Chief of the Imperial General Staff.

Lord Montgomery will retire as Chief of the Imperial General Staff in order to head the military command of the Western European Alliance.

Lord Alexander was the strategist who developed the African and Italian campaigns in the Second World War. As Supreme Allied Commander in the Mediterranean he led the armies of many nationalities, including two Canadian divisions and an armored brigade.

Lord Montgomery, as Gen. Sir Bernard Montgomery, was under Lord Alexander during the African and Italian campaigns.

In Ottawa, a Government House spokesman said that if chosen, the Governor-General would undoubtedly be pleased to serve as Chief of the Imperial General Staff. However, there was no indication here as to who finally might succeed Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery.

Home Bred Players Do Well On All Canadian Grid Fronts

Home-grown football players share honors with United States imports in the success of the teams which lead the Dominion's three major senior football unions.

Ottawa Rough Riders, who head the Big Four in the east and have twice beaten the Dominion champion Toronto Argonauts, look on Windsor-born Tony Golab, football's golden boy, and Howie (Touchdown) Turner, second-year import from North Carolina as two of the main cogs in their powerful machine.

Much of the strength of Hamilton Tigers, unbeaten leader of the Ontario Rugby Football Union, comes from the forward-passing skill of Frankie Filchok, formerly one of the ace passers in the U.S. pro game, and Gerry Walsh from Halifax, a former English rugby player.

Calgary Stampeders, who top the Western Interprovincial Union with six straight victories, owe much to veteran Paul Rowe, formerly of Victoria, and triple-threat Keith Spalth, who played last season with Honolulu Warriors.

The Stampeders believe their rockline defence and well-balanced backfield will put an end to the long reign of Winnipeg Blue Bombers as western Canada champions.

GREAT RECORD

Coached by Les Lear, former Bomber, they have trampled the Roughriders from Regina. In six scheduled games the ball has been carried across their goal-line only once. Two other touchdowns against them came from a fumble and a blocked kick. They have gained two-thirds more yards rushing than their opposition.

The 30-year-old Rowe who came to Calgary in the late 1930s is the team's leading scorer with three touchdowns. Quarterback Spalth, a shrewd signal caller, mixes the Calgary attack to perfection. He kicks well and is a consistent ground-gainer. His passing skill gives the Stampeders the west's most potent aerial attack.

Golab, now 32, is smashing the line as in prewar days—before he went overseas and suffered severe wounds while serving as a fighter pilot with the R.C.A.F. Still with the air force, he is Ottawa's leading scorer with 21 points—four touchdowns and a convert—in four games.

The 25-year-old Turner is tricky in a broken field, and also handles most of the team's passing and kicking duties. In five games he has tallied nine points but he has contributed to many other touchdown plays.

Filchok's field generalship and superb passing skill have enabled the Tigers to down each of their three rival teams in the Ontario Union by one-sided scores. In three games the 32-year-old native of Pittsburgh, Pa., attempted 38 passes and completed a sensational 24, six for touchdowns.

Wash, 198-pound battering-ram half, has scored five touchdowns for 25 points in three games.

Injury Jinx Strikes Down Three Of Leafs

Only two more weeks of practice clipping were left today before the National Hockey League's opening night Oct. 13. But already the world champion Maple Leafs, counting bruises, found their bashing defencemen had knocked out three players obtained from New York.

Rugged Cal Gardner, manager Conny Smythe's leading candidate for the centre position vacated by Syl Apps when he retired, was the worst casualty—but it took some time for him to realize it.

The 27-year-old native of Transcona, Man., fired two goals and two assists in a Leafs' practice session at St. Catharines, Ont., yesterday and then discovered he had a fractured cheek bone and a broken nose.

The red-haired player, who came to Leafs in the famous four-for-two deal of last April, suffered the injuries Wednesday night during an exhibition game with Pittsburgh Hornets at Waterloo. He finished the game but required ice-packs overnight. X-rays after yesterday's practice session disclosed the injury.

He is expected to be lost to the Leafs for at least two weeks. Winnipeg-born Frank Mathers, another of the Ranger players who came to Leafs in exchange for Wally Stanowski and Elwyn Morris and who starred with Ottawa Senators last season, now moves up as centre for the Harry Watson-Bill Ezinicki line.

The other two ex-Rangers sidelined by injuries are Bill Juzda, defenceman, with a bone bruise of the knee, and Rene Trudell, with torn knee ligaments.

SCHRIENER WORKS OUT

A former pro bopped up in the news at Montreal and Regina, where Dave (Sweeney) Schriener was reported working out with Regina Capitals of the Western Canada Senior Hockey League. Officials there said Schriener had not been selected for the team. At Montreal president Clarence Campbell of the N.H.L. said no request for reinstatement as amateurs had been received for Schriener or Murray Armstrong, who previous reports had linked with Capitals. Schriener retired from the Leafs in 1946 and Armstrong, former Americans and Detroit centre, with Dallas Texans. Campbell said he thought a pro should try to return to pro company if finances forced him out of retirement.

An exhibition game at North Bay Saturday night between Chicago Black Hawks and their farm team Kansas City Pla-Mors of the United States Hockey League may decide whether Emile (The Cat) Francis will retain his goal-tending job with the Hawks. A battle for the job has developed between Francis and Al Rollins, last year with the Allan Cup-winning Edmonton Flyers.

Cleveland Already Made 2-1 Favorite For World Series

CLEVELAND (AP)—Although the American League race can't possibly be decided before Saturday, the betting gentry already have established Cleveland Indians as a 2 to 1 world series favorite over Boston Braves, who have clinched the National League pennant.

"Too much pitching and too much punch," is the way they size up the Indians against the National League champions. "Bob Feller will be at least a 7 to 5 favorite no matter whom he pitches against," one local bookmaker pointed out. "The way he's pitching now he ain't never going to lose."

While his grammar was a bit off, and his words came tumbling out of the side of his mouth, the sure-thing gentry, nevertheless, made himself clear.

"With that big guy Heath (outfielder Jeff Heath) out of there with a broken ankle, the Braves will be minus their left-handed power hitter and run producer. That leaves Bob Elliott, a right-handed batter, as Boston's lone long-distance hitter. I hate to tell you what such right-handers as Feller and Bob Lemon do to him."

Even with Heath, Fort William native who broke his left ankle in a game against Brooklyn Wednesday, the Braves would have rated as the underdogs in the series.

"The Indians will win in five," the self-appointed seer predicted.

RUGBY LINE-UP

Oak Bay Wanderers line-up for the third-division match with J.B.A.A. tomorrow at Windsor Park follows: Kay, Heal, Jones, D. Vogel, B. Vogel, W. Vogel, Matson, Morgan, Barry, Pollard, Beck, Ferne, Evans, Massick, Arylard, Kenning.

Schanz Hurls Seattle To Second Playoff Win

That hot Coast League race must have taken something out of Oakland and San Francisco.

Both lost their second straight in the Governors' Cup playoffs last night.

The pennant-winning Oaks fell again before Los Angeles, 9 to 7, and the runner-up Seals were re-bopped by Seattle, 2 to 0.

Los Angeles did it with homers. Cliff Aberson smacked one with two on, and Dom Dallessandro and Eddie Lukon duplicated, each with one on. The last blow made reliever Ralph Buxton the loser.

Don Carlsen, young right-hander, shut out the Oaks for the final four frames to gain the win after replacing Red Lynn. Oaks' Eddie Fernandez and Merrill Combs homered off Lynn.

Seattle's Charley Schanz out-twirled Willie Werle for the Rainier victory. Werle had trouble with old Bob Johnson, who hit a homer and later singled and scored on Tony York's hit. That was all Schanz, in four-hit fettle, needed. Werle gave up six blows.

Short scores follow: R. H. E. San Francisco 0 4 1 Seattle 2 6 0 Werle and Leonard, Howell (7); Schanz and Hemsley, Los Angeles 9 12 1 Oakland 7 12 0 Lynn, Carlsen (5) and Malone; Salveson, Buxton (7), Hafey (9) and Fernandes.

Legion Soccer Team In Need Of Players

Another senior soccer team may be forced to withdraw from competition this coming season if additional players are not secured.

Second on the list of teams that are in desperate need of players is the Canadian Legion entry in the Victoria and District Soccer League. Last week an appeal was sent out for players to join the Victoria West squad.

The Legion eleven is scheduling a practice session at Central Park Sunday morning at 10.30 and anyone interested in seeking a position on the squad is invited to attend the workout.

Ball Player Enjoys Good Hunting

Since the close of the W.I.L. ball campaign, Jack Palmer, popular second baseman of the Victoria Athletics, has been engaged in a hunting trip up-island. Palmer is seen with his grouse limit, shot in the Campbell River area. The Californian had intended going on a cougar hunt but had to call it off when his wife took sick and he rushed home to Los Angeles. On arrival there it was found Mrs. Palmer was suffering from polio.

Southworth's Quick Success In Boston Further Stresses Value Of A Manager Liked By Players

By HARRY GRAYSON

NEW YORK — Lou Perini, Guido Rugo and Joseph Maney are contractors and practical businessmen.

So when the Three Little Steam Shovels decided to build up a badly-run-down Boston National League franchise, the first thing they did was put a competent baseball man at its head.

Billy Southworth is currently working on a five-year contract at $50,000 per, and is worth every nickel of it.

They say Billy the Kid Southworth does it with mirrors, or something like that, but he would be the first to tell you that no manager was ever phenomenal with a bad club.

The first Braves to come down in front in 34 years have evenly distributed power down through the batting order, and in right-handed Johnny Sain and south-paw Warren Spahn remarkable pitchers who complement each other.

A FINE JOB

Yet, while there may be no such thing as a miracle man in baseball, Southworth this year makes a mighty fine stab at being one.

In August of 1926, two stars of the Rogers Hornsby-directed Cardinals were not speaking and the Redbirds were taking sides.

Branch Rickey Billy Southworth

Things got so bad that at a meeting one afternoon, right-felder Southworth asked to be heard, and hopped up on a bench.

"Let's cut out this petty squabbling, and get out there and play ball," he said. "We can win that pennant. I want to win, and there are other fellows here who want to win. If you fellows who are fighting about nothing will throw half of that fight against the other clubs, we'll finish in front. I'm going out there and fight myself. How many are going with me?"

Sam Breadon heard about it, and knew he had a future manager.

Southworth's quick success in the Hub and fourth pennant in eight years further stresses the value of a manager.

"He is middle of the road, sound," says Branch Rickey. "Southworth believes he will win, is never beaten. You get everything he has until the last man is out."

"He controls his emotions. His judgment is good. He is secure tactically and not afraid to make a decision."

"He pays strict attention to details, knows everything that is going on all the time."

"Southworth is an extraordinary handler of men. Players like him, although he can be very firm. He handles each player individually, yet has a tremendous team spirit. He is interested in his players off the field as well as on."

"He is highly industrious, works at managing 16 hours a day."

"Southworth makes shrewd deals."

Branch Rickey brought Billy Southworth back into baseball in 1935 after he had been out two years.

Billy the Kid took a job as playing manager of the Asheville club of the Piedmont League at $300 a month.

He won down there, too.

Columbus Ties Up Baseball Playoff

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—Columbus Red Birds squared their American Association post-season series by beating St. Paul, 3 to 2, Thursday night before a crowd of 5,352. The victory gave each team two wins in the best-of-seven series.

The Birds bunched two doubles, two walks, a force out and an error by the usually reliable St. Paul catcher, Ferrell Anderson, to score their three runs in the sixth inning.

BRITISH CHAMP

HAYLING ISLAND, HANTS, Eng. (AP) — Frances (Bunt) Stephens, 24-year-old daughter of professional Fred Stephens, won the British women's amateur golf championship Thursday. She beat Mrs. Zara Bolton, 34-year-old mother of four children, 1 up in the 36-hole final.

LAWN BOWLING

Serving as a wind-up for the current season, Victoria West lawn bowling club will hold an open day for all bowlers tomorrow, starting at 2.

New York—Pat Brady, 137%, New York, stopped Rene Camacho, 133, Havana, 8.

English Rugby Squads Make Season's Debut

The English rugby season opens locally on two fronts tomorrow afternoon with lower division clubs providing the action while one week later the first division clubs (last year's seniors) take the field for their yearly inaugural.

Macdonald Park—home of the sport here—will be the scene of the opening festivities when a double bill is presented, starting at 2.30.

On the upper field Rear-Admiral H. G. de Wolfe will do the official honors for the start of the game between Oak Bay Wanderers and Joint Services College.

At the same time on the lower field J.B.A.A. second division club will meet the New Entries unit from H.M.C.S. Naden.

Wanderers boast practically the same line-up that last season won the British Columbia intermediate championship while the strength of the College entry is an unknown factor. The same situation holds true for the New Entries while J.B.A.A. is another holdover fifteen from last season. For the third division opener the scene shifts to Windsor Park

Cleveland Engages Detroit In Wind-Up

Detroit's Tigers once again stand in the way of Cleveland's bid for its first American League championship since 1920.

The Indians, who lead the runner-up Boston Red Sox and New York Yankees by one and a half games, clash with the Tigers in the opener of a three-game series in Cleveland today.

A Cleveland victory will assure the Indians of at least a tie for the league crown. Two Cleveland triumphs or one victory coupled with one loss by New York and Boston will enable the Indians to clinch the pennant.

The only way the Yankees or Red Sox can beat the Indians out is to win their two remaining games while the Indians lose all of their three. The Yankees and Red Sox, idle today, clash in Boston tomorrow in the opener of a two-game series.

In order for the race to end in a three-way tie the Red Sox and Yankees will have to divide their two games while Cleveland drops all of its three.

Eight years ago the Tigers not only blocked a Cleveland flag drive but went on to grab the pennant themselves. The Yankees beat Philadelphia Athletics 9 to 7 and the Red Sox knocked off Washington Senators 7 to 3 yesterday to keep their faint flag hopes alive. The Indians had the day off.

RASCHI STARS

Nifty relief pitching on the part of Vic Raschi saved the day for the Yankees. The Yankee right-hander entered the game in the ninth inning with Elmer Valo at bat with a 3 to 1 count, the bases loaded and one out.

Raschi threw a fourth ball to Valo to force in the Athletics seventh run but then fanned slugger Sam Chapman and got Buddy Rosar to fly out to end the game.

Joe Coleman was pounded out in the second inning when the Yankees scored four runs, after tallying two in the first.

The Red Sox, led by Dom DiMaggio and Johnny Pesky socked three Washington pitchers for 15 hits. Pesky and DiMaggio collected three safeties apiece and drove in five runs between them.

Lefty Mel Parnell started for the Red Sox and gained his 15th victory.

The Tigers turned back St. Louis Browns 7 to 2 in the other American League game. Young Ted Gray scattered seven hits in hanging up his sixth victory in eight decisions.

In the National League St. Louis Cardinals took both ends of a day-night doubleheader from Pittsburgh Pirates 6 to 1 and 4 to 1 to tie Brooklyn Dodgers for second place. Stan Musial's 39th homer with two on and Ron Northey's 11th with none on in the first inning featured the Cards' day-game victory.

Harry (The Cat) Brecheen posted his 20th victory against seven losses while stopping the Pirates on seven safeties in the night game.

Chicago Cubs tied Cincinnati Reds for seventh place as young Ken Raffensberger of the Reds 1 to 0. The Dodgers' scheduled game with Boston was postponed because of rain. New York and Philadelphia were idle.

Italian Fighter Dies Of Injuries

ROME (Reuter) — Gino Verdinelli, 23, Italian welter-weight boxer, died in hospital yesterday in Rome following a recent fight at Lisbon with the French champion Roberto Villemain.

As a result of the fight he suffered cerebral compression and was brought here to hospital. He died following an operation.

Rickert Leaves To Join Boston; May Get In Series

SEATTLE (AP)—Marv Rickert, outfielder for Milwaukee in the American Association, left by air Thursday night to join the Boston Braves in New York.

Presumably he was called as a replacement for Fort Williams-born Jeff Heath who fractured an ankle in a game against Brooklyn Wednesday. Heath will be lost for the world series.

Rickert said he was heading east with the understanding that his chances to play in the world series would depend on whether the American League pennant winner would approve it.

Rickert batted .286 for Milwaukee this season. He drove in 117 runs and hit 27 home runs.

Greco Whips Mell By Technical Kayo

MONTREAL (CP) — Jolting Johnny Greco of Montreal, Canadian welterweight champion, Thursday night scored a technical knockout over fellow townsman Gus (Pell) Mell in the fifth round of a scheduled 10-round non-title, overweight match that drew 9,000 fans to the Forum. Greco weighed 150, Mell 149½.

The end came at 1:54 of the fifth hour as Mell went down for the third time in the round and the referee called a halt after the count had reached three. A bone-crushing right under the heart was the finisher, but by that time Mell was nearly out on his feet and unable to cope with Greco's bull-like rushes.

Hogan Fires 67 To Share Lead In Portland Golf

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Champion Ben Hogan, rising young star Fred Haas Jr., and dark horse Gene Webb gave par a five-stroke beating Thursday to share a first-round tie in the 72-hole Portland Open golf tournament.

They posted 67s against the par 35-37-72 requirements of the Portland Golf Club course. Webb, from Springfield, Mo., playing his second season on the tournament circuit, surprised the early spectators when he came home with a 34-33. He was among the first to tee off and held the lead alone for some time.

Haas, former national inter-collegiate title winner, since turned professional, followed with a 32-35, which included a one-over-par 6 on the 18th.

Tournament favorite Hogan, U.S. and Western Open as well as P.G.A. champion, made it a three-way deadlock when he rambled in with a 34-33. Hogan, the Hershey, Pa. mite, remained the people's choice to take the event. He has won eight of his last nine tournaments and just returned to action here after nearly a month's layoff.

OLIVER HAS 68

Trailing the pace-setters by a shot was rotund Ed "Porky" Oliver of Seattle, with an initial round of 34-34—68 to his credit. He won the recent Tacoma Open and appears at the peak of his game.

Three tied at 69. They were John Palmer of Badin, N.C., Al Zimmerman, local sharpshooter, and the 1946 U.S. Open titleholder, Lloyd Mangrum of Niles, Ill. Mangrum was among the last to check in.

Charles Congdon of Tacoma, Wash., the Canadian Open winner, toured the layout in 70 strokes.

Pacific Northwest entrants' scores included: Hugh Morrison, Vancouver, B.C., 38-40—78. Ernie Tate, Vancouver, B.C., 40-38—78.

Doctor Charges European Athletes Stimulated By Drugs

LONDON (AP)—A prominent London doctor said Thursday that some continental European athletes during the summer Olympic Games were stimulated by drugs, much in the manner of race horses.

Dr. Christopher Woodward, director of the athletics' clinic at London's Middlesex Hospital, exonerated all British and North American athletes.

When he was asked what specific events he referred to, Dr. Woodward replied "sports in general and cycling in particular."

The 34-year-old physician, an official medical adviser to the British Olympic team, first wrote of the drug-taking in a letter to the magazine Cycling.

Last he told a reporter: "I'm sick of this dirty business. It's time it came out."

"It is my own personal opinion that this drug-taking, by others, was a very large factor in Britain's not achieving Olympic or world honors this year."

GETS PROOF

Dr. Woodward said in his letter to Cycling:

"I became very suspicious that some competitors were receiving artificial stimulants at the Olympic Games. . . . However, I could not find definite proof of what I suspected, so at that time I kept an open mind on the subject."

"Two or three weeks later, however, I was able to see things at closer range at the world's cycling championships at Amsterdam, where I spent some of my time on the inside of the track."

"Very few people other than our own team knew who I was. Imagine my surprise, therefore, when a garrulous foreigner very surreptitiously tried to show me his pet concoction of strychnine, caffeine and benzedrine."

Tips On Golf Rules

By ROBERT FOULIS

Tip No. 17

STROKE PLAY—TRYING TO FIND STRENGTH OF GREEN
Question—A competitor on the morning of a stroke competition rolls two balls by hand towards the hole on one of the putting greens.

Answer—The competitor is disqualified. R. and A. History, continued from Tip No. 14.

We can imagine that this is where "the luck of the draw" would have a bearing on the result of the competition. But the contest for the Silver Cup was in effect a championship and only the best players took part. The fact that John Rattray, an Edinburgh surgeon, who was the first winner was successful again in the following year, suggests that there was no great element of luck about it. This system of scoring remained unchanged by the Edinburgh golfers for 15 years.

Argos-Alouettes Open First Gridiron Feud

Football can take its place on the sports calendar today without fear of further jibes about rushing the season because everything now is officially in full swing—the feuding has started and the first veteran has been flushed from retirement.

None other than the Dominion champion Toronto Argonauts are smack in the middle of both these traditional earmarks of mid-season madness.

The feud is with Montreal Alouettes, although Argos officials decline to dignify it with that term. Hustling Lew Hayman is quoted as saying in Montreal, among other things, his old club is trying to squeeze him out of football.

Argos officials expressed more concern about their own news than Hayman's remarks, however. The champions picked one of the greatest figures in Canadian football's yesteryears to pluck from retirement.

Ab Box, rated among Canada's greatest punters, will line up with the champions, team manager Earl Selkirk announced last night. The 37-year-old triple-threat backfielder has been in retirement since 1939.

COPELAND INJURED

The Argos, pushed back into second place in the Big Four by two successive losses to Ottawa Rough Riders, were influenced by Royal Copeland's ankle injury to approach Box, Selkirk indicated. Copeland will definitely be out for the next game—perhaps for the season.

Selkirk said that Box, who returned to Beaches after his stay with Argos, has worked himself into playing shape—a trim 170 pounds—but will not start against Alouettes at Montreal tomorrow. He will make his first appearance a week later against Hamilton Wildcats at Toronto.

The Montreal game should be interesting enough without Box. Hayman made sure of that when he was quoted as saying in Montreal that certain Argos executives "have boasted that they'd break me" and that the Argos tried to squeeze him out by talking other Montreal interests into starting a rival team.

The Alouettes' part-owner and coach who came from Syracuse University in the early 1930's to lead Argos to three Dominion titles, added a charge that Argonauts are trying to do him out of Sunday games in Montreal.

T. H. C. Allison, Argos president, said Argos have "no interest" in Hayman. "He coached some of our teams and when he left, our interest in him ceased."

From the football standpoint, the Alouettes-Argonauts game is important to the playoff hopes of both teams. An Alouette victory would tie them with Argos for second place.

In the other Big Four game, Ottawa Rough Riders play the last-place Wildcats at Hamilton.

In the Western Canada Union, the unbeaten Calgary Stampeders make a two-game road trip. They can increase their victory string to eight by defeating third-place Saskatchewan Roughriders at Regina Friday night and the runner-up Blue Bombers at Winnipeg Monday night.

Height Big Factor In Pro Patria Cage Team

A sneak preview at the high school gymnasium last night revealed that the Pro Patria entry in the senior A basketball league may be one that will have to be reckoned with before the final gun sounds at the conclusion of the season next spring.

Turning out for the new entry in the senior loop last night were much Legion stalwarts of the last two years as Ernie Fox, Hank Rowe, Leon Hall and Ralph Baker. Representing the 1948 Alcos, intermediate A champions, who apparently have combined with the vets, were Harry Booth, Gordie Ellis, Jim Ireland and Don Hall.

Jim McKeachie, last two years with the University of British Columbia Chiefs of the Vancouver senior league, and Jim Ranson of the intermediate A Eagles rounded out the 10-man team which took part in the opening practice session.

The squad, although still in the tentative stage, is certainly not lacking in height. Fox and Rowe, the latter in the capacity of playing coach, each hit the six-foot four-inch mark, while Don Hall, who played a few senior games last year with the Legion, reaches up to almost that mark.

Booth, Ireland, Ellis and Leon Hall are all six feet or over, while McKeachie, Baker and Ranson are brushing the six-foot standard.

Wally Smith, manager of Alcos last year, will handle the business end of the team for the veterans' branch and he makes up in width what the others have in height.

96 Per Cent Registered For Hospital Insurance

The provincial hospital insurance service today estimated that 96 per cent of British Columbia's total population has registered for the plan and reported registration forms were being returned at the rate of 10,000 a day.

Dr. J. M. Hershey, commissioner, reported that there were still a few districts in the interior and northern parts of the province to be heard from but registration was proceeding smoothly from these areas.

Of the total of 970,000 registered, more than 500,000 persons are participating in the plan through payroll deduction. Dr. Hershey said. The bulk of the registration forms for this group is now being sorted, preparatory to the service receiving premium instalments, but officials said there were still some companies which have not yet returned their employees' registration forms. They urged that outstanding payroll deduction type registration forms be returned as soon as possible in order to permit efficient processing of the necessary ledger cards.

While premium payments for individual subscribers are not due to start officially until today, more than $500,000 has already been paid by persons preferring to pay the full premium at one time or make half-yearly instalments.

Dr. Hershey said that British Columbians by registering so promptly had proved their desire to co-operate with the hospital insurance service and make the plan successful. He added that although the official "final date" for registration has passed, every consideration would be given to late registrants in the completion of their forms and they should register without delay.

They are: R.C.N. Band from H.M.C.S. Naden, Fraternal Order of Eagles Band, Victoria Girls' Pipe Band, Greater Victoria Boys' Band, Victoria Youth Band and the Rainbow Sea Cadet Band.

Marching units in the parade will include the Victoria Girls' Drill Team, Oak Bay Girls' Drill Team, Eaglettes' Drill Team, Ladies Auxiliary to the Eagles Drill Team, Boy Scouts, Rainbow Sea Cadet Corps, and the Victorian Order of Nurses.

Floated and decorated cars from each of the 21 chest-supported agencies will also be in the parade.

At the City Hall the parade will halt and a brief ceremony will be held with Mayor Percy George and the reeves of Oak Bay, Saanich and Esquimalt taking part.

Following the ceremony, the parade will move along Douglas to Yates to Quadra where it will disband.

'Youth For Christ' Meets Here Monday

Robert Condon, above, Vancouver dramatist and radio gospel singer, will be in Victoria for the "Youth for Christ" meeting Monday night in the Crystal Garden.

"Youth for Christ" is an inter-denominational, international movement or fellowship seeking to co-operate with every church, regardless of denominational affiliation, to reach the youth of our land. Started during the last war, "Youth for Christ" has spread until now it is working in most countries.

Large youth rallies are held in most places every Saturday night. In Victoria "Youth for Christ" so far has been holding its rally the first Monday of each month. Approximately 400 have been attending the rallies.

R. McIntyre has been acting director here for the past several months.

Weather Conditions Normal Last Month

With the clear, warm weather, characteristic of Indian summer, holding forth during the better part of September, the official figures recorded at the Gonzales Meteorological station took a turn for the better last month after Victorians had suffered an abnormal summer.

Sunshine for last month totaled 212 hours, which officials stated was four hours above the normal reading. Precipitation was .15 inch below normal, as only one and a third inches fell during the complete month. Total rainfall since the first of the year still remains above normal, however, and the reading is 21.32 inches, which is 6.25 over.

Mean temperature was listed as 57 degrees, which is normal. Maximum was reached on the 9th when the mercury climbed to 79 degrees, and the low for the month was 43, recorded yesterday.

A Requiem High Mass will be sung on Saturday morning at 9, in St. Andrew's Cathedral, in memory of the late M. L. G. d'Estrube.

Widest House Moves Up Hillside

Victorians on their way to work this morning saw house-moving on a big scale as this former 10-room house, with the second story gone, was moved from Herald Street to Hillside near Grosvenor. Left to right are: W. Petersen, Jack Hodgson and C. G. Collington, with Jack Kerr kneeling in the background, all of Joseph Heaney's Cartage & Storage Company, doing the moving job.

When some people say they are moving house they really mean it.

Stan Shawcross, contractor and house mover, who owns the former 10-room house which was seen proceeding along Cook and Hillside Avenue early this morning is one of them. W. G. Raffard, housemover with Joseph Heaney's Cartage and Storage Company, who will complete his 65th house moving this year with today's job, is another.

"It is the widest building ever moved in the city and the only way we could do it was by keeping to arterial roads," said Mr. Shawcross. "We brought the house from the 700 block Herald Street and it will be placed on a lot at Hillside near Grosvenor."

"The house was built in 1918 and is 45 feet wide and 57 feet long," he added. "If it had been another foot wider we could not have moved it. Houses are seldom wider than 40 feet."

The second story of the house was demolished and Mr. Shawcross estimates the moving job when completed with the house on a foundation in the new location, will cost him $2,800. He gave the high cost of lumber as the reason for moving rather than demolishing many older houses, which have good lumber in them.

Others on the moving job from Heaney's with Mr. Raffard were C. G. Collington, Jack Kerr, Jack Hodgson, Gerry Ham and W. Petersen.

Mr. Shawcross has three more houses on Herald scheduled for removal to Hillside locations.

Trades Congress Delegates To Start Arriving Next Week

Delegates to the annual convention of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada will start arriving here next week and indications are that the delegates may total considerably more than the originally expected 600.

J. W. Buckley, secretary of the congress, will arrive here Monday morning to begin making final preparations for the convention which will formally open the following Monday in the Club Sirocco hall.

Some of the seven resolutions committee are scheduled to start functioning toward the end of next week. They will include the seven-man credentials and the eight-man resolutions committees.

Some of the remaining committees may not get started until after the convention itself is under way. They are the five-man rules and order committee, nine-man officers reports committee, eight-man constitution and law committee, eight-man legislative activities committee and the six-man ways and means committee.

The recent explosion of the railway clerks' union from the congress is expected to be one of the major topics of the convention. Since then some unions which did not plan to send full delegations are reported to have named further delegates.

Wisner Deep In Preparing B.C. Case On Mountain Rate

Attorney-General Gordon S. Wisner will spend the major part of the next four weeks in Vancouver directing the work of experts preparing British Columbia's case demanding removal of the mountain differential in freight rates which will be heard by the Board of Transport Commissioners next month.

"Witnesses will be interviewed and briefed in order that evidence in support of British Columbia's plea will be both effective and comprehensive," said a government announcement. "Mr. Wisner has taken full charge of this case and will direct the proceedings in so far as British Columbia's plea is concerned before the Board of Transport Commissioners."

The hearing will get under way in Vancouver Nov. 1. The board will also sit at the following points during the hearing: Nelson, Nov. 10; Calgary, Nov. 12 and 13; Edmonton, Nov. 15 and 16; and Winnipeg, Nov. 18 and 19.

Councillor To Handle Ditch-Cleaning Request

At a special meeting of the Saanich Council Thursday night, it was decided that the request of a delegation of ward six farmers to have the McHugh ditch cleaned would be handled by Councillor William Kersey.

The farmers had appeared at the regular council meeting Tuesday night stating that they wanted to get the ditch cleaned before wet weather prevented it.

B.C. Cement Co. And Union Reach Collective Agreement

A collective agreement has been successfully negotiated by the B.C. Cement Co. Ltd. and the United Cement, Lime and Gypsum Workers' International Union, Local 277, both of Victoria, the Labor Relations Board announced today.

Involved in the negotiations were 140 employees at the company's Bamberton plant. Assisting the parties in reaching an agreement was W. T. McLaughlin, conciliation officer.

The negotiations involved questions of wage rates, working conditions and the length of the working week. Details of the settlement were not disclosed by the board.

At the same time the board announced that A. H. Harper, Vancouver barrister, Sherwood Lett and Herbert Gargrave, C.C.F. member of the B.C. Legislature for MacKenzie, had been appointed to a conciliation board which will attempt to settle a dispute between the Dominion Bridge Co. Ltd., Vancouver, and the United Steelworkers of America, Local 2655 (C.C.L.).

This dispute also involves questions of wages and working conditions.

Linking of wages to the official cost-of-living index is becoming more and more common in the negotiation of union contracts. The board today reported that this had been done in two mainland disputes, that of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, Local 1696, at Penticton, and Dawson Hall Ltd., Vancouver, and the Canadian Cannery (Western) Ltd., and the same union.

Both agreements provide for an adjustment every three months of five cents per hour for every five-point rise in the cost-of-living index.

Jewish New Year Observed Sunday

Sunset on Sunday, Oct. 3, will usher in the New Year, 5709, in the Jewish calendar.

Members of the Victoria Jewish community will celebrate the holiday for two days, S. Bricker, president of the congregation at the Jewish Synagogue, Blanshard and Pandora, announced today.

"This holiday is characterized by a unique combination of solemnity and rejoicing, and a remembrance proclaimed with the blast of ram's horns," Mr. Bricker explained.

"The past year has emerged for the Jewish people as the historic date of their national restoration on their historical native soil. Prayers will be offered for a just peace in the Holy Land and all over the world," he said.

Cantor I. Lifman, Vancouver, and Cantor J. Narod, Victoria, will officiate at the new year services here.

Chokers which have been modernized with new palladium mountings make a dazzling addition to new-look wardrobes.

250 Flood Claims Outside Fraser Area Reported Settled

Lands and Forests Minister E. T. Kenney, charged with flood rehabilitation work outside the Fraser Valley area, today reported that 250 claims which come under his jurisdiction have been settled.

They represent half of the claims which have been investigated completely. The remaining 250 are in the process of settlement.

The minister said that outside the Fraser Valley area there were known to be between 750 and 800 cases of flood damage. Among the areas filling the greatest number of claims were Penticton, 250 cases, and Kamloops 155.

Government agents in each district are responsible for directing the inspection and reporting on all cases as well as the actual rehabilitation work, the minister said. The field work is done by assessors, assisted by district agriculturists, water rights and public works department engineers and other provincial officials if required.

FOLLOW SAME POLICY

The same policy is being carried out in settling the claims for flood damage outside the Fraser Valley where the work is being done by the Fraser Valley Rehabilitation Authority and being paid for jointly by the federal and provincial governments. Outside the Fraser Valley flood area the province is assuming the full cost of flood relief.

If the amounts involved are not large the settlement of claims may be effected on the ground. Otherwise the claims are referred to Victoria. Mr. Kenney said that priority over other work was being given to this problem and it was expected that all cases would be dealt with in the very near future.

The minister said that it was expected that flood victims would do their utmost to assist themselves, but where it is manifestly beyond their ability to do so the government will help.

A sentence of seven days in jail and suspension of his driver's license for three months was imposed on Earl C. Stewart, 4209 Douglas Street, who pleaded guilty in city court today to a charge of being intoxicated while at the wheel of an automobile.

Loyalty To King, Commonwealth Heads Long List Of Tory Party Resolutions

OTTAWA (CP)—The resolutions committee recommended these resolutions to the Progressive Conservative national convention today as planks for the party platform:

1. Unswerving loyalty to King George.
2. Strengthening of British Commonwealth ties, closer Canadian relations with the United States and France, support of the Western Union and the United Nations, "friendly firmness" toward Russia.
3. Free enterprise, with precautions against monopoly and unfair competition, is the only sound basis for personal liberty.
4. Communist activities in Canada should be outlawed.
5. There should be no infringement of provincial rights; the provinces should give full, free consent before any such right is altered.

ENCOURAGE DEVELOPMENT

6. The party is opposed to socialization of major industries and financial institutions, but maintains a sound national policy demands encouragement and development of resources to the full.
7. The Foreign Exchange control board has seriously harmed the Canadian economy; the Dominion should seek changes in international monetary fund regulations to permit "orderly revaluation" of currencies.
8. Personal income tax exemption should be at least $2,500 for married persons, $1,250 for single persons; the exemption for dependent children should be boosted $200; the general rate of personal tax should be lowered.
9. The present cost of government is excessive and extravagant and should be substantially reduced.

WIDER TRADE

10. The party pledges itself to the principle of expanding Canada's international trade and of reciprocal tariff adjustments and trade agreements to promote that expansion; the party will eliminate all abnormal trade barriers arising from license quota and embargo.

11. Municipalities should be compensated for taxes lost by reason of ownership of crown property.

12. If elected to power, the party will enact permanent floor-price legislation; it favors restoration of the Canadian Wheat Board Act, will enact an Agricultural Products Marketing Act.

13. The party proposes pensions at age 65 without means tests; accident, sickness and disability benefits; health insurance including adequate medical and hospital care; extended unemployment insurance benefits; similar non-contributory benefits for "unemployables."

HOUSING PLANS

14. The Dominion has a responsibility for provision of housing; it should encourage home ownership, sponsor research to promote construction and reduce housing costs; co-operate with the provinces and municipalities in meeting the shortage.

15. A Progressive Conservative government will attack the cost of living by cutting government costs and taxes and by encouraging and freeing production.

16. The party stands for fair and adequate wages, standard hours according to the type of work, holidays with pay, certification of labor organizations after majority votes; machinery for dispute conciliation, equal pay for men and women doing equal work.

17. The party advocates an immediate air defence, full-strength active and reserve forces and cadet services, an effective airborne force, an emergency plan for conversion of industry from peacetime to wartime footing, an emergency civil aid and defence plan for urban centres, an offer of voluntary navy, army or air force training for high school graduates and other qualified persons, an air training program comparable to the Canadian officers training corps scheme, Canadian participation in the Berlin airlift.

VETERANS' AFFAIRS

18. The party pledges itself to set up a Commons committee on veterans' affairs, to retain veterans' legislation and improve it if necessary, to periodic review of pensions and other veterans' administration.

19. Equality of women with men in all government responsibilities.

20. Conservation and development of natural resources and maximum industrial production.
21. A long-range immigration policy aimed at bringing selected immigrants to Canada.

22. A free market for gold.

23. A freight-rates investigation with emphasis on "discrimination between the several geographical areas."

24. Immediate completion of a hard-surface trans-Canada highway.

25. Radio-broadcasting regulations should be handled by a body independent of the government; the $2.50 radio license fee should be abolished.

COURT TESTS

26. The Crown should be just as liable as an individual in the courts; the Archambault report on penal reform should be acted on.

27. The party favors a "Canadian national flag."

28. It pledges a "fixed policy, limited only by the rules of sound economics," to give the Maritime Provinces more electric power, better markets for their products, legislation guaranteeing shipment of Canadian goods through Canadian seaports.

29. The party reiterates its belief in the supremacy of Parliament and opposes any increase in the use of ministerial proclamation and government by order-in-council.

30. A national library should be established in Ottawa.

A conviction for theft against Lionel Aubin was quashed by the Appeal Court Thursday. The court ordered a new trial for the accused who was sentenced to one-year imprisonment. James J. Proudfoot appeared for the Crown.

PLATFORM SPADEWORK—Selection of the resolutions which will form the platform of the Progressive Conservative Party occupied the attention of the resolutions committee at the party's national convention. The committee made its report to the convention today. Committee members show interest as J. M. Macdonnell (standing right, in shirt-sleeves), president of the party, stresses a point. Resting on his elbow at head table is Fred G. Gardiner, K.C., of Toronto, committee chairman. R. L. Stanfield of Halifax, president of the Nova Scotia Association, sits between. (C.P. Photo)

Court Hearing On Margarine To Start In Ottawa Tuesday

OTTAWA (CP)—With some notable absences in the ranks of its warriors, the battle of margarine will rage anew next Tuesday before the Supreme Court of Canada.

The question is whether the 62-year-old federal ban against the butter substitute is constitutionally valid. The request for the court test originally came from the Senate, at the prodding of Senator W. D. Euler (Lib.-Ontario), foremost champion of repeal.

Any anticipations that it would provoke a legal tussle wide in its variety of contestants have been let down. Only one of the nine provinces—Quebec—has taken advantage of the offer to be heard, and it was late in filing notice.

RULER TO SPEAK

Those who will be represented are the federal government, whose deputy justice minister, F. P. Varcoe, will take the traditional stand that legislation is valid; Senator Euler, who will be aided by Senator Salter Hayden (Lib.-Ontario), one of his backers in the Senate's perennial battles over the issue; the Attorney-General of Quebec, and possibly L'Association Canadienne des Electriques of Montreal.

It is customary for the full bench of seven judges to sit on tests of constitutional questions. The margarine case was placed at the head of the docket list because of its importance.

It marks the latest developments in a battle launched by Senator Euler three parliamentary sessions ago. He failed at three successive sessions to get the Senate to support his bill for abolition of the ban, but finally won through on the request for a court hearing.

The government met the request shortly after the Liberal National Convention in August.

Newsboy Collects From Red Envoy At Last Minute

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The Soviet consul-general left San Francisco Thursday night for home—but only after a persistent newsboy had conducted some unfinished business with him.

Konstantin Efremov, recalled to Russia with the closing of the consulate, was collecting the last of his belongings in the big white house. There was a sharp—and undiplomatic—knock on the front door.

An aide craned his neck out of the slightly-opened door and asked 13-year-old Jimmy Allen what he wanted.

"I want my money," piped Jimmy.

The aide slammed the door. Undaunted, Jimmy took a strategic position on the sidewalk, from where he could watch both the front and side doors.

An hour or so later Efremov, his wife and four associates emerged from the 30-room dwelling. They started for two cars.

With the speed of a delivered newspaper sailing to a front porch, Jimmy darted up to the consul-general, tugged at his coat sleeve and said with determination:

"I want my money for the newspapers."

Efremov looked at the lad, hesitated a moment and then asked: "How much?"

"One buck, two bits," said Jimmy.

Efremov waved a hand at one of the men in the group. The man dug in his pocket.

Jimmy got his money, and the last of the consulate's business in the United States was transacted.

Driving Charge, Twice Remanded, Is Dismissed

Commenting that "the case is so narrow that I must give you the benefit of the doubt," Magistrate H. C. Hall, dismissed a charge of driving while intoxicated against Mrs. Laura Mitchell, 1724 Newport Avenue, in Saanich police court Thursday.

The magistrate, who had twice remanded the case while he considered the evidence, stated that there was grave doubt if the evidence of Dr. E. L. McNiven, who examined the woman following an accident near Cordova Bay on Sept. 12, was admissible.

He added that three witnesses had testified that they did not think Mrs. Mitchell was intoxicated following the collision with another car.

The Duke of Edinburgh will become a freeman and liveryman of the Worshipful Company of Shipwrights in London on Oct. 18.

Suggests Highway Link As Boost To Tourist Business

British Columbia's tourist industry would be given a decided boost if the John Hart Highway were joined up with the Alaska Highway in the opinion of Brig. John M. Rockingham, commanding officer of reserve army infantry units in the province.

Speaking before the Rotary Club Thursday, Brig. Rockingham was outlining his recent trip over the Alcan route as a member of a contingent of western Canadian army officers on a familiarization exercise.

"Gold and uranium deposits in the north could be brought out more readily," the speaker added.

REVIEWS HISTORY

Brig. Rockingham reviewed the history of the 1,555-mile Alaska Highway which was built by the United States in just over six months in 1942 at a cost of $138,000,000.

He was impressed with the immense bridges spanning such large, swiftly-flowing rivers as the Peace and Liard, and by the condition in which the Canadian Army, which maintains the road, kept the three lane gravel route.

Brig. Rockingham concluded his address by suggesting that, since voluntary enlistment in the army is not what it could be, compulsory military training of some sort is necessary.

Painter Falls To Death

VANCOUVER (CP)—Andrew Cox, 47-year-old painter, was killed almost instantly Thursday when he fell from a scaffold under the Burrard Bridge here. He dropped 80 feet into False Creek, striking a projection before he struck the water. Cox and four other workmen were painting steel girders beneath the bridge deck.

Death Sentence

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP)—Richard Rivers, 20-year-old Ojibway Indian, Thursday night was convicted of murder in the hotel room sex-strangling last July of his 21-year-old sister-in-law, May Rivers. He was sentenced to be hanged Dec. 9.

Rivers showed not a flicker of emotion as the jury foreman announced the verdict and Mr. Justice G. A. Gale told him:

"The verdict is amply supported by the evidence in the case."

The jury, which retired at 11.40 a.m., deliberated nine hours and 32 minutes—one of the longest in Algoma district history.

DRIVERS FINED

Frank A. Littlewood and James A. Henderson were both found guilty of dangerous driving in Saanich police court Thursday.

Magistrate H. C. Hall imposed a fine of $50 on Littlewood and prohibited him from driving for two months. Henderson was assessed $40 and prohibited from driving for one month.

Alberni Valley Seeks More Data On Hospital Plan

PORT ALBERNI—City council of Alberni and Port Alberni decided at a joint meeting here to await figures on costs, specifications and other data on the proposed new hospital at Port Alberni and meet a second time before submitting by-laws to rate-payers.

As the municipalities' share of the proposed $600,000 hospital, Port Alberni was asked to raise $75,000 and Alberni $25,000. Additional funds would be provided by government grants, a Community Chest contribution and a provincial government loan.

Councils discussed two major points. Councillors said rural areas, which would receive the benefit of the new hospital, would not in any way share in the costs, while H. W. Harding, government agent, said he knew of no way in which the rural areas could be taxed for the purpose. On the second point, the meeting felt there was no assurance that $600,000 would cover the cost as materials might go up in the interval.

Emphasis was placed on the necessity for a new hospital, the present building having been started in 1912 and added to piecemeal in the intervening years.

It was estimated cost of the loan by-law to Port Alberni would represent about two mills and from two and a half to three mills at Alberni.

Thetis Island Asks Resident Tutor

LADYSMITH—Advice with regard to possibility of a resident school tutor to assist children with correspondence studies and provide an individual touch, which they felt was vitally needed, was sought by Thetis Island parents in a letter to the board of trustees of Ladysmith School District No. 67.

In doubt as to the legality of the procedure, trustees instructed F. Vandecasteyn, secretary-treasurer, to consult Dr. W. Plenderleith for official opinion on the question.

Seeking a solution to the problem of educating their school-children, Thetis Island residents have discussed several alternatives. The children could travel by water taxi seven to 10 miles a day to attend classes at Chemainus or Ladysmith at a cost to the board of $40 a week for the five students involved. The pupils may board in a school area in order to attend school or receive their education by correspondence, which parents feel would be more effective, with tutor supervision.

New Heating Plant For Parkville Hall

PARKVILLE—A tender of $3,450 from the Pacific Sheet Metal Works, Nanaimo, for the installation of a heating plant in the Community Hall, was accepted by Parkville Community Hall board. The hall board will have a large oil heater set up in the main hall to make it more comfortable for the Saturday dances and meetings, until the heating plant is ready for use.

Plan Road Building At Port Alberni

PORT ALBERNI—Provided Port Alberni city council gives final approval, a money by-law will be submitted in December seeking authorization for the purchase of road-making machinery, an asphalt mixer and a spreader at a cost of about $20,000 and possibly a further expenditure on roads in 1949.

The city is discussing a proposed policy with regard to roads, of doing a certain specified amount of building each year, with its own equipment and staff.

Business Steady At City Butcher Shops

With beef in Victoria selling between 30 and 35 cents a pound, city butchers report business is steady again.

Buyer resistance which was felt rather strongly when prices soared in mid-August, following the lifting of a government embargo on Canadian cattle to the United States, now has almost disappeared.

Prices have held steady for several weeks now, and show no signs of an immediate change.

BOY HURT

Eleven-year-old James Fenner, 1147 Balmoral Road, was taken to Royal Jubilee Hospital at 12.30 Thursday afternoon following a collision with a car driven by Frank W. Hicks, 1567 Gladstone Avenue, at the corner of Johnson and Quadra Streets. The youth was released after having two stitches put in his knee.

Wallace Party Withdrawing 13

WASHINGTON (AP)—Henry Wallace's Progressive Party is withdrawing its candidates for 13 House seats in five states.

Campaign manager C. B. Baldwin said the action was being taken because, among other reasons, the Democratic nominees "have turned to a much more constructive liberal path."

The Wallace party still plans to run 100 candidates for the House and 11 for the Senate. Wallace, candidate for President, is on the ballot in 29 states and expects to be on in at least 40, Baldwin said.

The party, Baldwin said, was supporting outstanding Democrats with "liberal" records. Withdrawals in the congressional races did not mean any change in party policy, Baldwin said.

Three-Year Study Nears First Goal Of Standardizing Nuts, Bolts

OTTAWA (CP)—The International Standards Organization, with its principal aim of standardizing British and U.S. industrial and military equipment, today appeared to have achieved its first measure of success.

The three-year-old multi-nation establishment—which started out with about two dozen countries and gradually was whittled down so that Russia is no longer an active member, soon may strike off as completed one of the 78 items on its agenda for standardization.

And although the item may seem unimportant—an agreement on how Britain and the United States may manufacture nuts and bolts—an Ottawa official said it had great ramifications. It was an important item in the production of defence equipment. Defence department officials were particularly glad of a Washington report Thursday that a formal pact between Britain and the U.S. on standardized threadings probably will be signed about the middle of October.

The agreement—a compromise—will lay down specifications for the adoption of a "unified" thread screw which in time will be used by all manufacturers in Britain, Canada and the United States, as well as other Commonwealth countries.

COST IS HEAVY

In Ottawa it was learned the move may cost industry in the three countries about $300,000, 000 to scrap old dies and taps and adopt the new threadings.

This acceptance of how to manufacture nuts and bolts is the first great international standardization stride in this century, an Ottawa authority said. It paved the way for the I.S.O.

No More Television Licenses For Awhile

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Communications Commission stated Thursday it was temporarily suspending approval of any new television stations in order to "polish" the service already authorized.

The action, effective immediately, freezes 302 pending applications for new video stations.

The pause in the further expansion of television broadcasting at this time finds a total of 123 stations authorized, of which 37 are actually on the air. The remainder hold construction permits and are in various stages of development.

to pull ahead in its drive for the adoption in the Commonwealth and the U.S. of 77 other items, including manufacture of aircraft, agricultural implements and timber mechanisms.

Stone Arch On New Commons Chamber Honors Churchill

LONDON (CP)—A stone "Churchill Arch" in the new House of Commons again demonstrates that the wartime prime minister can be engaged in bitter political controversy and yet be above politics.

Even the leftist members on government benches who shout their disapproval when Winston Churchill speaks have no complaint about the honors given freely to the man who led a united Britain in dangerous years.

They might have complained that the new chamber, rising with pride on the site of the old one destroyed by German bombs, should not be designed to honor any single man. When the foundation stone was laid Prime Minister Attlee and Churchill himself spoke of the chamber as symbolical of free British institutions and the democratic rights shared by all.

Now members of Parliament entering the new chamber always will be reminded of Churchill. The arch, almost completed, has been built of battered and burned stones from the old chamber and it makes a striking contrast with the new, cream-colored Clapham stonework around it. A formal naming ceremony is proposed when the work is completed.

READY IN TWO YEARS

The new chamber probably will not be opened for use for two years, but much work is being done to improve the Parliament Buildings. When the chamber is opened members will be able to reach ministerial offices by a subterranean passage dug within the last month.

The present Commons chamber, formerly used by the Lords, has been cleaned and renovated during the recess. Paintings stored away for safety in the war have been brought out and hung in corridors and some of the unsightly scaffolding, in evidence in corridors since 1945 as repairs proceeded, is being removed.

'Woman In White' On Dominion Bill

"The Woman in White," one of the most celebrated mystery stories ever written, has been transferred to the screen under Warner Bros. banner, and is the new attraction opening today at the Dominion Theatre. The studio assigned no less than four top-ranking stars, Eleanor Parker, Alexis Smith, Sydney Greenstreet and Gig Young, to play the leading parts in this famous Wilkie Collins story. Augmenting this brilliant quartette are Agnes Moorehead and John Emery.

The story abounds in suspense, and moves from a handsome Victorian country estate, to a cemetery, to an insane asylum, through secret panels and finally murder.

YORK THEATRE

While Larry Parks was attending the University of Illinois in preparation for becoming a doctor, he was bitten by the acting bug. Apparently there was no "cure," because Larry has since made a big mark for himself in Hollywood. He is currently the star of Columbia's Technicolor production, "The Swordsman," at the York Theatre, romantic adventure of life and love in the Scottish Highlands during the glamorous days of the 18th century.

ROYAL THEATRE

It's never too late to learn something new. Charles Winniger, who began his stage career in 1893, and who, in 1913, launched a long career in vaudeville, never had tried his hand at juggling until he was cast in a top supporting role in Twentieth Century-Fox's Technicolor musical, "Give My Regards to Broadway." Then, in a period of one month, rehearsing eight hours a day, Winniger mastered a number of extremely difficult juggling routines which he performs with Dan Dailey, star of the film currently at the Royal Theatre.

CAPITOL THEATRE

The love story of a war widow and the man who blames himself for her husband's tragic death is told against the stirring background of life at West Point in Paramount's "Beyond Glory," dramatic romance co-starring Alan Ladd and Donna Reed, now at the Capitol Theatre.

The film is rated as an entirely different type of vehicle for Ladd and one that should enhance his already vast popularity. It gives the star an opportunity for an intensely emotional and highly dramatic portrayal as a World War II hero whose conscience drives him to the widow of the man he thinks he killed.

ATLAS THEATRE

Social miracles performed in off-hand style feature "The Bishop's Wife," Samuel Goldwyn's gay new romantic drama for RKO Radio, now at the Atlas Theatre, which co-stars Cary Grant, Loretta Young and David Niven. The engaging plot deals with a mid-western clergyman and his wife, both harassed by financial and domestic trials, but who are visited by a rather handsome mysterious guest, with the result that their troubles vanish by the time the guest disappears.

ODEON THEATRE

There is a well-trod path from Broadway acclaim to the roster of The Film Daily's 10 best films of the year, and if precedent is at all meaningful, the current show at the Odeon Theatre, "The Time of Your Life," starring James Cagney and Jeanne Cagney, William Bendix and Wayne Morris, should be a belting picture.

For "The Time of Your Life" is both a Pulitzer and New York Critics' Circle award winner.

Engineer Clears Arena Foreman In Building Blunders

Blunders in construction of the Memorial Arena were not the fault of the foreman, Dick Hill, in the opinion of Charles T. Hamilton, Vancouver consulting engineer in the project.

"The engineer states in a letter to Mr. Hill he was wrong in his opinion of the foreman, and wrong in stating at the arena inquiry last week that Mr. Hill was not 'big enough for the job.'"

Since making that statement, Mr. Hamilton said he had learned that Mr. Hill had been "the victim of malicious slanders and had patiently taken the blame for many decisions on matters of construction with which he disagreed."

'SINCERE APOLOGIES'

"I am very pleased to confirm by this letter our recent conversation wherein I expressed to you my sincere apologies for the comments I made regarding my opinion of your abilities as the construction foreman of the Victoria Memorial Arena," Mr. Hamilton wrote to Mr. Hill.

"I was more than pleased to learn—and not through you—last Thursday that the opinions I held of you were entirely erroneous," the engineer added, and continued:

"Now that the truth has been brought to my attention, my opinion of your abilities has completely changed and I shall have no hesitation in recommending you as a fit and proper person to take charge of the completion of this project or the handling of other work of importance."

Employment Total At Seasonal Peak

OTTAWA (CP)—Employment reached a seasonal peak in most parts of Canada during September, the Labor Department said Thursday.

At Sept. 16 there were 86,000 persons seeking jobs compared with 91,000 at Aug. 19. During the same period, the number of jobs available, as shown by department records, increased by 14,000 to 71,000.

Jobless totals at Sept. 16, with figures and job vacancies in brackets:

World Bank Names Gordon Director

WASHINGTON (CP)—Donald Gordon, deputy governor of the Bank of Canada, was elected a director of the world bank Thursday.

The wartime director of the Prices Board succeeds Graham Towers, governor of the Bank of Canada, who wished to retire from active participation in world bank affairs.

Under the complicated system by which directors of the bank are selected, Canada required the assistance of one other country to retain membership on the board.

Previously Canada had been assisted by and in turn represented Norway on the board.

Is A Calf Cattle?

A Saanich resident, appearing in Saanich police court Thursday had those present wondering for awhile when he raised the point of whether or not one calf could be considered as cattle.

The man was charged with allowing cattle to graze on unfenced land contrary to a municipal by-law, and remarked, when asked how he pleaded, that he wondered if a lone calf came under the heading of cattle. Magistrate H. C. Hall took this as indicating a plea of not guilty, but fined him $5 when the man admitted that the evidence of Const. R. Colman was correct. The constable had said he had found the calf a short distance outside a fence on Cedar Hill Road on Sept. 8.

Interpretation of the word cattle was not given by the magistrate as he passed sentence.

Board Investigating Coal Resources At Hassler Creek

Premier Johnson's office here today announced that the Dominion Coal Board is investigating the coal resources of the Hassler Creek area in connection with B.C.'s negotiations for the expansion of the provincially-owned Pacific Great Eastern Railway into the Peace River district.

G. A. Vissac, consulting engineer and member of the coal board, has completed a preliminary study in Victoria before going to make on-the-ground investigations. He has conferred with J. M. Stewart, deputy railways minister for the province, obtaining data on railway location, grades, equipment, costs and potential markets.

Mr. Vissac also conferred with Dr. T. B. Williams, who is conducting a resources survey in the Peace River district; George Melrose, deputy lands minister; Dr. J. F. Walker, deputy mines minister, and K. M. Ralston, mining engineer for the Canadian National Railways.

Mr. Vissac's studies, said the announcement, are a direct outcome of representations made by Mr. Johnson when in Ottawa in August.
